

Kramer Will Direct Office for Wharton

Appointment of Bernhardt S. Kramer of 59 Fairmont Avenue, Kingston, as his District Representative was announced today by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton. Kramer has resigned as Deputy Clerk of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and Assistant Budget Officer for the County of Ulster.

Robert A. Snyder, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, has announced the appointment of Joseph Martorana of Clintondale to the office of deputy clerk of the board and assistant budget officer.

Covers Large Territory
In making the appointment Congressman Wharton stated that the 29th Congressional District is a widespread one, consisting of 150 miles in five counties.

Congressman Wharton further stated that he has had the appointment of a district representative in mind for some time to personally handle the unusual problems which arise in the area.

Wharton pointed out that he has maintained a full time office in Washington, fully staffed since his first election to Congress and that the legislative and departmental work is done there.

To Study Problems
The duties of Kramer will be to visit the five-county district as an "on the spot" representative of Congressman Wharton and discuss local problems. He will maintain an office in Kingston from which he will carry on his work in the District.

Congressman Wharton said he has been desirous of having an individual qualified to act as a representative in the district for some time who could be of assistance to him and to his constituents.

Kramer, who is active in the Ulster County Young Republican Club, and was active in the campaign to re-elect Congressman Wharton last fall, was recommended to the Congressman by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

Following the appointment by Congressman Wharton to the post as his district representative, Kramer resigned his position with the county. He is a former city clerk of the City of Kingston and was a candidate for mayor on the Republican ticket. He is a past commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, served as a first lieutenant in the U. S. Army, is past president of B'nai B'rith, past president of Temple Emanuel, past chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, past budget chairman of the Girl Scouts of America, secretary of Kingston Lions Club, volunteer fireman, and a member of Kingston Lodge 10, F & AM. He is a graduate of St. John's University School of Law and is married to the former Caryl Louise Hess. They have two sons, Howard L. and Monte D. Kramer. Kramer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kramer of 35 Emerson Street.

Democrats Note Parallel

Dirksen Is Critical Of Atty. Gen. Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today the selection of Robert F. Kennedy to be attorney general marks a departure from the idea of putting a seasoned lawyer in the office.

"I think the country has always felt that the attorney general should be a legal scholar and learned in the law," the Illinois senator said at a Judiciary Committee hearing on the appointment.

Demos Defend Him
Democratic members of the committee quickly sprang to the defense of Kennedy, 35-year-old brother and campaign manager of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and John A. Carroll, D-Colo., said they had been struck by a strong parallel between the experience of Kennedy and William P. Rogers, attorney general in the outgoing Eisenhower administration.

Both Robert Kennedy and Rogers are former counsel of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Crisp Tense Start
The hearing on Kennedy's selection to be a member of the new Cabinet got off to a crisp, tense start in a jam-packed hearing room.

Unlike other Cabinet selections who have been called for questioning in advance of the formal submission of their nominations, Kennedy was sworn as a witness.

Dirksen got permission to lead off the questioning and began by reading newspaper editorials and other press comments critical of Robert Kennedy's selection to head the Justice Department.

Some Needing Due
The prospect was for some Republican needling—but no serious challenge—to Kennedy as the man to lead the government's far-flung law enforcement activities.

None of the committee's Republicans said they intended to oppose Robert Kennedy's appointment or try to obstruct Senate confirmation.

Most Controversial One
The hearing on Kennedy, probably the most controversial of any of the new Cabinet appointments, was called in advance of official submission of his nomination.

Other Senate hearings were called today on Orville L. Freeman to be secretary of agriculture, Arthur J. Goldberg to be secretary of labor, Abraham A. Ribicoff to be secretary of welfare and Stewart L. Udall to be secretary of the interior.

In addition, the Senate Finance Committee asked Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the treasury-designate, to return for further questioning.

Phone Bomb Scare Drives 200 From Shopping Center

The rash of bomb scares reported in 1960 spilled over into 1961 Thursday night when an employee of Thieves Market, on Route 9W just south of Port Ewen, received an anonymous telephone call from an unknown male reporting that a bomb would explode in five minutes.

David Kushner, treasurer of the giant market, ignored the call, according to the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, convinced that it was a hoax.

At 7:50 p. m. Chief Edward F. Mains of the Port Ewen Fire Department received a call, apparently from the same man, reporting that a bomb would go off in the market in five minutes.

Some 40 men under the direction of Mains and Deputy Chief Cleon Jump responded. They directed about 200 shoppers from the building and searched it thoroughly. They were unable to find anything. In about 45 minutes shopping resumed.

About 8 p. m. a third call was received by Lawrence Smith, auditor of the market, with a similar report.

About 8 p. m. James Ellsworth, calling for Chief Mains, notified the Ulster County sheriff's office of the bomb scare. Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough and Nils Seasholtz were dispatched to the scene.

Jaeger Wesley O'Brien notified Kingston state police. State police from the Highland barracks were also sent to the market.

It is believed that the same man made all three calls.

Stillman May Get Commerce Dept. Job From Kennedy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — John Stillman, Democratic chairman in Orange County, N.Y., reportedly is being considered for appointment to a post in the Commerce Department in the Kennedy Administration.

This was reported Thursday by sources at headquarters of President-elect John F. Kennedy. The sources said, however, they had no information regarding any specific job.

Steal Piece by Piece

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Police here are looking for thieves who steal abandoned houses—brick by brick, board by board.

Among several city-condemned properties which have vanished piece by piece were two apartment buildings.

The thieves took anything that can be knocked loose, including bathroom fixtures and kitchen sinks.

The holdup was similar, police said, to a Dec. 5 robbery at the Schiller Park Branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, when one of the two gunmen carried a sawed-off shotgun. A total of $17,000 was stolen in that robbery.

A teller, Robert V. Higgins, 18, said the gunman strolled in together, looking "as if they were going to make a deposit."

One of the men suddenly pulled the sawed-off shotgun from under an overcoat, Higgins said, and herded the customers and employees into the vault room. The other man carried a .45-caliber revolver, police said.

Two felt hats, a pair of white asbestos gloves, a jacket, and $500 in cash were also found in the abandoned car, police said.

It was the largest amount stolen in a bank holdup here since 1925 when the "Candy Kid" Whittemore gang escaped with $93,000 from the old Bank of Buffalo.

Armory Event Jan. 25-27

60 Exhibitors Are Due At Horticultural Show

The large trade show and meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society will be held in the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue, Jan. 25, 26, 27. This meeting, which is held annually the last week in January, will have 60 exhibitors showing the latest in farm equipment, spray material, packages and packing equipment and the like.

The three-day session will feature William Darrow, Jr. of Putney, Vt., with an illustrated talk on "What the Northwest is Doing." Darrow visited this region last fall and has an exciting story to tell. Another important item is the trends in number of fruit trees as shown by the 1959 census. Some areas have made heavy plantings and others have not. This information is essential in deciding on future plantings.

Many Special Features
The important promotion and market research programs of the New York and New England Apple Institute, and the educational, research and publicity work of the National Apple Institute will be presented.

Other features of the program are the pear outlook in Eastern New York, controlling the cherry virus yellows, what can be done to reduce weather checking, and how to reduce labor and bruising in harvesting.

Other subjects of special interest to growers will be how to control apple scald, and red mite; the cost and returns from airplane spraying and dusting; and how to reduce the loss from birds. A panel of growers will discuss what to do with old apple orchards, can they be cut back and be made productive, or is it better to push them out.

2 Are Appointed To Study System Of Store Tokens

A two-man committee has been appointed by President Clyde Wonderly Jr., of the Uptown Businessmen's Association to study the feasibility of providing customers with parking meter tokens.

Serving on the committee are Robert Kreines, an uptown shoe merchant, and Norman Shapiro of Shapiro's Paint Store on North Front Street.

Kreines said today that uptown businessmen apparently favor the token idea and that it should be received favorably by the city in view of the fact that it would increase meter income.

He and Shapiro will approach Mayor Edwin F. Radel in the near future with a proposal for (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Survey Is Part Done On Detour

Interviews Held With Area Folk

Part of a survey ordered recently by J. Burch McMorran, state public works superintendent, to determine the feasibility of providing a detour for the city's uptown area during razing of the Washington Avenue Viaduct, has been completed, it was learned today.

Trends in Albany, to date, meanwhile, have indicated that removal of the viaduct and replacement of the narrow Esopus Creek bridge, appear due for priority consideration in preparation of the state's 1961 public works program.

An Albany official said today that the place of the local project on the active 1961 program is not likely to be known until the entire program is completed and the extent of the money to be made available is known.

Importance Recognized
A recent order from the Public Service Commission directing the razing of the viaduct indicates that it is definitely to be on schedule this year. The PSC decided early in 1960 after previous public hearings that the narrow structure, now more than 47 years old, should be removed, and this was followed by the actual removal order late last year.

In announcing the latter directive, however, Superintendent McMorran revealed that the state did not plan a detour other than use of the city's arterial route system, during razing of the viaduct, even though one had been previously requested.

Press For Detour

This led to renewed local effort to gain a detour more directly serving the uptown area, and soon after Mayor Edwin F. Radel and others had arranged for an Albany conference to discuss the proposal. Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, through a conference with McMorran in Albany, announced that a new study was to be made to determine if the uptown detour could not be included in the project.

Men, who had been working on a Westchester County project, were sent here this week to start the survey, and in a few days had completed considerable surveying and marking of the viaduct and bridge areas. It was also learned that property owners in the project area have been interviewed.

Needs All Data First

The survey as ordered by McMorran is being made through the office of Kurt G. Rauer, district state engineer at Poughkeepsie. He said Thursday he would be unable to determine anything as to the feasibility of the detour until all data is compiled for study.

Mayor Radel noted recently however, that after a tour of the area with Rauer some time ago, that he appeared to be in favor of a detour for the uptown area, and Assemblyman Wilson, in his recent announcement, appeared optimistic that one would be provided.

An Albany source indicated today that the sum to be spent by the state for public works projects, plus details of the 1961 program, should be known by April.

One Person Injured In Route 208 Mishap

One person was injured in a two-car collision Thursday afternoon on Route 209 about 50 feet west of Railroad Avenue in the Town of Hulet, Kingston state police reported.

Mrs. Erma DeLuca, 52, a passenger in a 1951 sedan operated by Joseph DeLuca, 53, both of 68 Prince Street, Kingston suffered injuries to her arm and leg, and said she would see her own physician. Trooper William Cameron reported.

The DeLuca vehicle was proceeding west on Route 209 when it collided with a 1960 sedan operated by Roger Schnell, 31, of Poughkeepsie. The Schnell car was proceeding north on Route 209, rounding a turn, hit an ice patch and slid into the left front of the DeLuca vehicle, troopers said. DeLuca pulled to the extreme right to avoid contact, Trooper Cameron said.

Ice Foot Thick Off Saugerties

Icebreakers Trying To Free Freighters

Two U. S. Coast Guard icebreakers were pounding at foot-thick ice in the Hudson River this morning in an effort to free several freighters caught in a bottleneck near Saugerties.

Trapped in the river were the Cobetas, a Spanish freighter; the SS Elmarie; the Stegheholm, a Swedish ship, with another unidentified freighter, proceeding south, approaching the bottleneck.

Move in Circles
Mrs. Chester Glunt, wife of the civilian technical official in charge of the Turkey Point Light Attendant Station, which attends all lights and beacons between Newburgh and Hudson, told The Freeman this morning that two Coast Guard icebreakers, the Sauk and the Firebush, were proceeding in circles around the Cobetas and the Elmarie in an attempt to free them.

The Cobetas, proceeding in a northerly direction toward Albany, and the Elmarie, traveling south toward New York City, were attempting to pass each other.

"The ships move an inch and stop," she said, "move an inch and stop."

The Cobetas was in trouble off Cruger Island on the easterly side of the Hudson.

Two tug boats, one owned by the Russell towing firm of New York City, the other by the Matton Company of Albany, which had been in trouble yesterday, succeeded in breaking through and continuing their journey to New York City.

The bottleneck is located between Saugerties and Glasco. Both of the freighters, the Elmarie and the Cobetas, are empty of cargo, which causes them to stand high in the water and reduces their engine power.

Mrs. Glunt, with a bird's eye view of the activities in the Saugerties area of the river, said the Elmarie was freed by the icebreakers about 10 a. m. and shortly before noon was attempting to pass the Cobetas, proceeding inchmeal. The Elmarie (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

2 Deny Conspiracy To Obtain Control Of E-J Shoe Firm

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—The heads of two New York City foundations denied today in state supreme court that they had entered into a conspiracy to gain control of the Endicott Johnson Corp.

The denials of Albert A. List and James M. Kaplan appeared in affidavits answering charges by a group of stockholders of the E-J shoe firm seeking to prevent any move for control of E-J by the Glen Alden Corp. of New York. List heads Glen Alden, as well as a foundation bearing his name. Kaplan, who also has a foundation bearing his name, has been an E-J director.

While the court action was in process, the E-J board of directors met, without Kaplan, and was expected to vote him off the board.

In court, Kaplan's attorney called the charges against Kaplan irresponsible and said Kaplan had been "vilified."

JFK, Rusk Will Meet Today; 2 GOP Aides Stay

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy confers today with the new administration's secretary of state, Dean Rusk, on foreign policy problems and organization matters.

Rusk flew to Palm Beach Thursday night after indicating in Washington, in testimony to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that the Kennedy regime plans no immediate sharp departures in dealing with trouble spots around the globe.

State Two Sessions
Kennedy and Rusk scheduled a morning meeting and a luncheon session at the president-elect's ocean-front home.

Kennedy announced he is retaining two Eisenhower administration officials.
Joseph Charyk will continue to serve as undersecretary of the Air Force.
Thomas D. Morris, now an assistant director of the Budget Bureau, will be assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics.

Picks Commerce Aide
The president-elect Thursday night chose Edward Gudemman, Chicago investment banker, to be undersecretary of commerce.

Gudemman, 54, is a former vice president and at present a director of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Last year he became a general partner in the investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers. He is a graduate of Harvard College.

In his Washington testimony, Rusk was questioned by Red China, Cuba, summit conferences, American, being held by the Soviet Union, and U.S. relations with the nation's allies.

Indications are Rusk will have clear sailing in winning Senate confirmation of his nomination, which Kennedy will formally submit after taking office a week from today.

Peking Ties Unlikely
On Communist China, Rusk said he sees no present prospect of the United States establishing normal diplomatic relations with the Red regime. But he said, "The presence in mainland China of a large and powerful force is one of the facts... we cannot ignore."

As for the anti-American Castro government of Cuba, Rusk said he is very much disturbed by that situation. He called for intensified efforts to get the truth to the people of Latin America, through the United States Information Agency.

Rusk left open the possibility of Kennedy attending a summit conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev—provided there was some hope such talks would be fruitful.

Will Seek Freedom
He said the new administration will do its best to win freedom for two U.S. Air Force fliers held by the Soviet Union since their plane was downed north of the Soviet Union last year.

Rusk arrived in Palm Beach a few hours after Kennedy had made public summaries of five study committee reports dealing with the international situation. All the groups were appointed by the president-elect.

One of the reports recommended that Kennedy "resist, insofar as possible... demands for early statements on the subject of arms control" and disarmament. The committee said the matter should be thoroughly debated within the administration and a clear policy worked out before any public stand is taken.

That committee also called for creation of a semi-autonomous agency, apparently within the State Department, for handling of disarmament policy and problems. It recommended that the head of such an agency work as an equal to the secretaries of state and defense.

Kennedy last week picked John J. McCloy, former high commissioner to Germany to be chief of the U.S. Disarmament Administration, now a State Department unit.

On arrival in Palm Beach, Rusk said the question of a separate disarmament agency "is still very much in the study stage."

Other Study Reports
The other study committee reports dealt with:

AFRICA—The report said that at present there is no integrated policy regarding the newly independent nations of that continent. The summary said the committee has suggested detailed programs, but they were not made public.

FOREIGN ECONOMIC POLICY
—Undisclosed suggestions were advanced for "strengthening United States leadership in the task of increasing international trade and developing (vigorous) economies abroad."

U.S. INFORMATION AGENCY
—The report recommends that the new chief of the agency, which has the job of winning friends abroad for America, be designated as principal adviser to the president and the secretary of state on international information and cultural matters. The committee also urged that the director be made a member of the National Security Council, which is headed by the president.

Among those being considered by Kennedy for the information post is Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer.

STATE DEPARTMENT—This report suggested an expanded role for U.S. ambassadors to reflect "more fully the fact that (they are) an extension of presidential authority abroad."

As a young man, publisher Joseph Pulitzer was elected to the Missouri State Assembly. He continued working as a newspaper reporter at the same time.

HEAD KIWANIS FOR 1961—Newly-elected officers and directors of Kingston Kiwanis Club for 1961 include seated (l-r) Attorney Howard C. St. John, vice-president; Charles Vogt, lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis, who installed the new officials Thursday during ceremonies at Governor Clinton Hotel; Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, president; Lawrence Quilty, vice-president; Herman C. Schwenk, treasurer; and Fred L. Van Deusen, secretary. Rear (l-r) William C. Murray, director; Chester A. Baltz Jr., past president; John F. Schomer, director; and Carroll Lynch, director. (Freeman photo).

Kiwanis Installs Connelly, Others As '61 Leaders

Vincent G. Connelly officially became president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club for 1961 on Thursday when Kiwanis Lieutenant Governor Charles Vogt of Middletown presided at the installation of the officers of the local club.

Other officers installed Thursday included Howard C. St. John and Lawrence Quilty, vice presidents; Fred L. Van Deusen, secretary and Herman C. Schwenk, treasurer; directors include Mortimer H. Englander, Carroll Lynch, John F. Schomer, Irving L. Eyles and William F. Murray. Chester A. Baltz Jr. became the immediate past president.

Kiwanis Lt. Gov. Vogt, a former resident of Kingston and now making his home in Middletown, briefly explained the duties of each office and officially welcomed the participants into their respective position.

Ex-Secretary Honored
Retiring secretary John R. Warren was honored by past president Chester A. Baltz Jr. for his devotion to the club for the past seven years. He was presented with a desk set "as a token of our appreciation of your efforts," Mr. Baltz said.

The Kiwanis letter of the week informed members of the club that a total of 33 members had achieved perfect attendance records for the year of 1960—with William Byrne and Joseph Stout leading the list with 28 and 27 years without missing a meeting. These members are due to be honored at a future meeting.

To Honor Anniversary
Local Kiwanians were also reminded that the year 1961 marks the 40th anniversary of the club—"Forty years of service to our community," read the note. Plans for the coming year also include suitable recognition of the club's anniversary.

Austerity Approved
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The lower house of Parliament approved 115-90 today the government's austerity program, target of a 25-day-old general strike called by the Socialists. Later approval by the Senate is considered a formality.

The Socialists opposed the plan bitterly, saying severe cuts in social welfare services and higher taxes will fall heaviest on the workers.

Premier Gaston Eyskens insisted austerity is necessary to offset losses of revenue from the Congo. In the Senate, Eyskens' conservative coalition of Social Christians and Liberals has a substantial majority.

Daughter Engaged
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The 18-year-old daughter of Phil Harris and Alice Faye is engaged, her parents announced today.

They said Alice Faye Harris will marry Ted Alcus, 25, of New Orleans sometime in mid-April. He works for an advertising firm in New York City. Alice has been a student at the University of Arizona.

Last Mule Barn Goes
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The last mule barn in Memphis—the world's biggest mule market—was being converted to the cattle trade.

Wade H. Tribble, who heads the barn firm, said the demand for mules had dwindled to the vanishing point. Farmers nowadays prefer tractors.

The New York and New England Apple Institute will tell of the program planned for these "Crisp-Aire" apples.

A meeting also is scheduled Thursday night at the Governor Clinton, where Ransom Blakeley will speak on "Hidden Profits in Packing Apples."

T. E. LaMont, secretary of the Horticultural Society says, "This is one of the best programs ever given at the annual 3-day session at Kingston. It was prepared by growers in cooperation with the fruit extension agents, and the research and extension specialists. It combines the experience and knowledge of growers along with the latest scientific information."

Programs for this three-day meeting may be picked up at County Extension offices.

500,000 More Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment rose by half a million in December to 4,500,000—highest December total since 1940.

Employment declined by 1,173,000 to 66,009,000.

Announcing these figures today, the Labor Department also reported that the rate of unemployment to the total work force rose from 6.3 per cent in November to 6.8 per cent. This is the highest December rate since 1940. The percentages are seasonally adjusted.

Seymour Wolfstein, Labor Department manpower expert, said that the idle total is going up further this winter.

Central Hudson Reassigns Two County Residents

Two area residents have been reassigned in managerial position in Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation's Upper Hudson Commercial Division, it was announced today by Arthur W. Buddenhagen, division manager.

Joseph J. Benjamin of Lake Katrine, a resident manager of Kingston Commercial District was named Kingston Operating District distribution superintendent.

Wilbur R. Peters Jr., of Hurley, a distribution superintendent was reassigned as Kingston resident manager.

Buddenhagen reported that the transfers become effective on January 16 and are being made as part of Central Hudson's program of providing on-the-job training.

Benjamin is a graduate of Rutgers University and joined Central Hudson in Kingston in 1947. He was advanced to Poughkeepsie distribution office manager in 1949, became personnel assistant in 1952 and was appointed employment manager in 1955. In 1959 he became Kingston special commercial representative. He returned to Poughkeepsie late that year as assistant to the vice president—commercial relations and was named resident manager in Kingston in January 1960.

He is a past president of the Lake Katrine Board of Education; a director of the Kingston Community Chest and the YMCA; a member of the Kingston Rotary Club and served last year as general vice chairman of the Ulster County Red Cross campaign.

Peters is an electrical engineering graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He joined Central Hudson in February, 1947, was appointed Poughkeepsie distribution superintendent in 1954 and transferred to Kingston in May, 1958.

Peters is a past president of the Mid-Hudson Section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. He is a member of the Hurley Library Board; Sunday School Superintendent of the Hurley Church and a past chairman for both the Community Chest and Red Cross fund campaigns in Hurley.

Ike Delays Strike
NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower has acted to ward off a second strike of railroad marine workers in New York harbor—already hard hit by a four-day-old walkout of tugboat and ferryboat crewmen.

He created an emergency board under the Railway Labor Act to make recommendations for settling a contract dispute between the railroads and a barge captain's union.

A captains' strike had been set for next Sunday. The President's action, taken Thursday, postpones a strike by the Lighter Captains Union, Local 996, for at least 60 days.

Britain Seeks Officer
LONDON (AP)—Police were on the lookout today for a missing British navy officer the Admiralty announced had access to secret NATO documents.

Lt. Henry Drummond, 35, disappeared New Year's Day. He is a cipher and communications officer.

"He has always been a steady and reliable man and is happily married with two children," said a British Admiralty spokesman.

Fire in Mail Box
A fire in a Main Street mail box Thursday afternoon resulted in only slight damage, Charles M. Lord, superintendent of the uptown post office branch said today. Firemen said the fire was checked before their arrival by Officer Louis Sapp and Ransom Krom, whose address is unknown. The box, used for "pick-up and relay," is near 280 Main Street. Slight damage was done to one letter and a mail bag.

Laos in Third Bomb Strike on Pro-Red Troops

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government's four newly acquired planes from the United States pounded the pro-Communist rebels' artillery positions 70 miles north of Vientiane today for the third straight day.

No reports were available so far on the damage but military experts said the Laotian pilots—trained in France and Thailand—probably would need more of flying to sharpen their aim.

No Sign of Retaliation
So far there was no sign of air retaliation from the Soviet Union, Communist China or North Viet Nam, which support the Pathet Lao rebels. But Western intelligence sources reported an old model Soviet spotter plane, was observed directing rebel artillery fire on Monday, the day before the United States delivered the four propeller-driven trainer planes the government forces are using.

Use of the planes for attack missions raised fears among British and French diplomats here that the Soviets or Red Chinese would supply combat planes for use against the anti-Communist forces.

Applies Steady Pressure
The planes were reported attacking in the area of the Nam Lie River, 70 miles north of Vientiane, where two companies of government forces were reported engaged with a rebel force of about the same size.

Army sources said Premier Boun Oum's government is applying steady pressure on this front in an effort to link up with government units pushing down from Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

Large Plastics Firm To Establish in Area
A nationally known plastics firm has indicated its intention to establish in the Hudson area, Columbia County, it was made known in an announcement by Greater Hudson Chamber of Commerce.

The new industry is expected to employ about 425 and plans to locate on property owned by the Cocind Corp., a subsidiary of the Chamber of Commerce at an industrial site in Greenport.

The firm prefers to remain anonymous until the problem of waste material disposal is eliminated. Information regarding the size of the plant was not immediately available.

$440 in Fines Paid By Thruway Violators
A total of $440 in fines was paid in traffic court of Saugerties Town Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers during the past week for traffic violations on the Thruway.

Twenty-four speeders paid a total of $355 in fines. Sixteen other Thruway motorists paid a total of $85 for other violations including no inspection certificate, inadequate muffler, failure to comply, and insufficient lights.

Laos 'Not Here'
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The Times-Union is conducting a telephone survey, asking residents whether they know where Laos is.

2 Deny Conspiracy
The present family management of E-J, accused Kaplan of misappropriating confidential data of the shoe firm for use in a deal with List and Glen Alden.

E-J has been losing money, but thousands of residents of the Triple Cities community of Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City are determined to retain the family control of the 80-year-old firm.

Justice Joseph P. Molinari adjourned court until afternoon to give counsel for the stockholders more time to prepare.

Meanwhile, John Lamula, a former assemblyman and head of an investment firm in New York City, said he would ask the Internal Revenue Service to look into the tax-exempt status of the two foundations of List and Kaplan.

And, in Endicott, hundreds of E-J workers gathered to present to the president of E-J petitions signed by a majority of 10,500 participating in a pension fund. The petitions call for turning over $10,000,000 from the fund to the company, if needed.

Neither List nor Kaplan appeared in court.

Methodist Elect

Lewis Fellows and Milton Armstrong were reelected trustees for a three-year-term at the quarterly conference held at Saugerties Methodist Church Tuesday evening. Also elected at the meeting was William Waldele, who will replace Willet Baldwin, whose term expired. Baldwin will also take over the duties of lay leader, replacing David Cunningham.

Reformed Church Approves Adjusted Budget for 1961

Members of Saugerties Reformed Church met in the parish room of the church on Tuesday night and approved the adjusted budget as presented by Stewardship Chairman Arthur Dean Van Etten.

Reports from the ladies' organizations were read by Mrs. Madeleine O'Neil and Mrs. Katherine Freilich, of the Women's Auxiliary, and Mrs. Jean DeGroff and Mrs. Marion Heerman of the Dutch Guild. Mrs. Lucy Abbott gave a report of the church school, and noted that 25 new members have been enrolled.

On behalf of the teaching staff and pupils, Clarence Brower expressed appreciation for the new school rooms.

Reports were given by the junior and senior youth fellowship groups by Bonnie Abbott, and Clarence Brower.

The consistory and church members, as a token of appreciation, presented to Mrs. O'Neil, president of the Women's Auxiliary, a plaque to be placed in the vestibule of the church. The plaque reads, "In Honor of the Women's Auxiliary for 50 years."

Jaycee Week Is Proclaimed Here By Mayor Radel

Major Edwin F. Radel today proclaimed the week of Jan. 15 to 21 as Jaycee Week, and asked "all citizens of our community to give full consideration to the future services of the Junior Chamber of Commerce."

Civic bodies, service organizations and local government, he emphasized, "recognize the great service" given by the Jaycees. The special week, as proclaimed locally, he noted coincides with a like observance by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

House Republicans Spur St. George Appointment

Members of the New York Republican delegation in the House of Representatives are projecting the name of Rep. Katherine St. George, (R-Tuxedo Park) for appointment on the powerful House Rules Committee, it was learned today.

None of the Northeastern states has been represented on the committee for years.

Mrs. St. George, if appointed, would have to surrender her post on the House Armed Services Committee.

The rules committee culls all controversial bills for floor debate.

Back in Hospital
WACO, Tex. (AP)—Claude R. Eatherly, a pilot who took part in the only use of the atomic bomb as a war weapon, is back in a hospital by court order for mental treatments.

Acting on a request by his brother, a County Court jury adjudged the decorated World War II flier insane Thursday. Its verdict capped a series of incidents landing him in jail the past eight years.

Eatherly, now 41, flew a reconnaissance plane just ahead of the A-bomb strikes at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan. Psychiatrists say that as a result of the raids, the tall and affable Texan developed a nagging guilt complex, although he did not actually drop the bombs.

Body Found in Tank
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The body of Joseph F. Barone, 44, a city disposal plant employee, was found Thursday night by searchers at the bottom of a waste tank.

Barone had been reported missing by his family when he failed to return home. Investigators said they found an open cleanout valve along a catwalk above the tank where Barone's body was found. They theorized he lost his balance while working on the valve and tumbled in the 20-foot deep tankful of waste and water.

Frederick G. Hulse, a former mayor of Monroe and prosecuting attorney during the Nuremberg trial of war criminals in 1946-47, was reported in critical condition in a U.S. Army hospital in Germany. He was injured in an auto mishap near Frankfurt last week. The 52-year-old area man flew to Germany a week ago on a two-week vacation during which he planned to participate in a wild boar hunt.

To Be Quizzed Today

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Knoxville, Tenn., man is slated for questioning by detectives today in the slaying of an Illinois engineer in a Dayton hotel.

Detective Sgt. C. M. Teeter said Michael Hugh Compton, 21, already has orally admitted the budgeon slaying of Harvey Whetstone, 31, of Lombard, Ill., at the Gibbons Hotel last Friday night.

Teeter said Compton gave as motive the robbery of $32 from Whetstone, consulting engineer for the Alexander Proudfoot Co. of Chicago.

use of tokens, Kreines said. Details of a token plan would have to be worked out. Participating merchants would pay for the tokens which would be distributed to customers.

Kreines said that if a customer is unable to park conveniently and economically she will shop elsewhere and that it was important that uptown merchants counteract the influence of present and future shopping centers which will "automatically deteriorate the business sections of Kingston."

He said this would ultimately reduce the value of property and result in the loss of revenues to the city.

Kreines said that affects all the residents of the city, both business and residential, because if business doesn't flourish, and empty stores appear, the tax structure must be raised.

He said the use of tokens would not mean that the city doesn't need more parking lots, which are a "lifeline" to any business section.

He said he feels that local merchants are beginning to feel the need for constructive cooperation.

Author Robinson had also written many magazine articles and one of his more recent short ones dealt with the Woodstock grocer who had befriended him along with other writers, artists, actors and musicians during their younger and leaner years in Woodstock.

Among survivors is a son, Anthony Robinson, of Woodstock, two married daughters, one living in New Jersey, another in Michigan, and several grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced.

American Pilots Accuse Canadians, They Turn Blame

CLEVELAND (AP)—A witness at a public hearing Thursday on regulations proposed for the Great Lakes Pilotage Act told of the "pirating" of vessels by Canadian pilots and increasing animosities because of threatened American competition.

As proposed, the act requires all foreign vessels to have aboard a qualified pilot for safe passage when they enter certain dangerous and confined areas of the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

Testifying at the final session of the three-day hearing Thursday, Capt. Albert E. Fraccaro of New York, representing the St. Lawrence Pilots Association, told of the difficulties of getting piloting jobs aboard foreign vessels, which he said the "Canadians have all tied up."

"Even when you are able to get a job," he said, "you sometimes climb aboard to find a Canadian pilot already there ahead of you. They accuse us of pirating the ships, but actually we lost more jobs than we got. They've got all the equipment and we have none."

He was answered by Marc LaLonde, counsel for the St. Lawrence-Ottawa pilots and a professor of law at the University of Montreal. LaLonde said the Canadian pilots had the same troubles with American pilots.

He said he believed it would be possible for American pilots to use the Canadian facilities, such as pilot boats and teletype communications.

"I believe American pilots should get their fair share of the business," LaLonde asserted.

Alfred T. Meschter, acting administrator of the Great Lakes Pilotage Administration, said at the conclusion of the hearing that his committee would make necessary changes in the regulations by Jan. 31. The regulations are to be effective May 1.

The city of Shreveport, La., was named for Henry Shreve, a designer of passenger-cargo boats.

Gangland Victim

NEW YORK (AP) —Fingerprints have identified the victim of an apparent gangland shooting as 35-year-old Gerard (Jerry) Strivelli, whose record of arrests ranged from bookmaking to homicide.

Strivelli's body was found Thursday in the front seat of a stolen car parked along a Bronx street. He had been slain with a single bullet in the head. His body was in an upright position. There were no signs of a struggle.

All identification had been cut from Strivelli's clothing, his wallet was missing, but he still wore his wristwatch and had a 25-cent piece in his pocket. In the road near the car was a cartridge shell, which police ballistics experts were studying, and a new gray hat still bearing a $10.95 price tag.

Florida Police Look For Teen in Theft

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Police said law-enforcement officials in Florida were on the lookout today for a teen-ager whose mother said he stole $10,000 in cash and savings bonds from her.

Mrs. Sara Kowaney of Auburn signed a warrant Thursday night, accusing her son, Peter 17, of first-degree grand larceny.

Police said Mrs. Kowaney told them the boy had disappeared Monday with $8,900 in cash and $1,100 in bonds, including one bond worth $1,000.

Two boys who disappeared with young Kowaney were arrested in Florida Thursday, police said. Their names were not disclosed.

Police said the boys, who had $200 in their possession, disclaimed any knowledge of Kowaney's whereabouts.

Contrasts of Views Are Spelled Out

Ike Message Notes Satisfaction, JFK Groups Think More Is Needed

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower paints a cheery picture of America. But study groups President-elect John F. Kennedy created to advise him see a lot more needed than Eisenhower accomplished.

The outgoing president, in his last State of the Union message to Congress Thursday, could have offered programs. But incoming Kennedy will do that.

Glowingly at Times

So Eisenhower reviewed America as he sees it and the work of his administration. No doubt he hopes it will also be the verdict of history. He seemed satisfied. At times he spoke glowingly.

The following is the contrast between the views of Eisenhower and the Kennedy groups:

DEFENSE—As usual, Eisenhower defended his handling of this, predicted "the near future will hold such wonders as the orbital flight of an astronaut."

But the Kennedy groups think Russia will beat us with a man into outer space and said this country is lagging behind the Soviets in ballistic missiles and outer space exploration.

THE ECONOMY—In this field Eisenhower was both sunny and gloom. He praised America's economic progress, admitted "there is little room for complacency," said the economy is operating at "high levels" but was concerned about unemployment.

But he didn't mention recession. Many economists say the country is in one. The Kennedy group suggested the new president act quickly with a batch of emergency measures to get recovery fast.

Kennedy has put top-priority on still another study group's ideas for helping both unemployment and depressed areas.

HOUSING — Eisenhower seemed to feel pretty good about this field. He said "more houses have been built during the past eight years—over nine million—than during any previous eight years in history."

Favor Broad Programs

But Kennedy's study group suggested broad programs to meet housing needs of low-income families, of the elderly, of farmers, of college students, plus broad spending for city planning.

Last December The Associated Press reported: "Housing disappointed in 1960. Demand fell, costs rose, money grew scarce, and fewer homes went up."

EDUCATION — Eisenhower recounted, with apparent pride, what his administration has done in this field. But the Kennedy study group on education thought far more is needed. It proposed a vast program of federal aid to schools, amounting to nearly $2.5 billion yearly.

"Millions of children, particularly in certain rural areas and in the great cities are deprived of an opportunity to develop talents that are needed both for society and for their own lives," it said. This group called its proposals the minimum for accomplishing the needed "significant uplift" in American education.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND THE AGED—Eisenhower pointed to progress made in Social Security—the broadening of its coverage and new benefits added—and said this about the aged: "New legislation provides for better medical care for the needy aged. The administration recommended a major expansion of this effort."

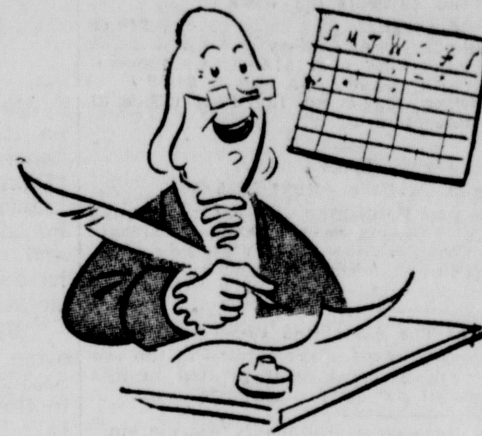

But the administration's recommendations, while they would provide some help for some, were opposed to linking Social Security to medical care for the aged. This is what Kennedy wants to do.

His study group, not at all satisfied with the Social Security program as it exists, proposed a broad expansion of Social Security, public assistance, unemployment pay, medical education.

Deaths

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Gerould T. Lane, 68, former vice president of the Eastman Kodak Co., died of a heart attack Thursday. He is credited with playing a prominent role in development of photographic paper, particularly in the color field.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Sam Katz, 69, a pioneer theater owner, died Wednesday. He formed the Amalgamated Theater Corp. with Barney Balaban in 1914.

UNTAXED BILLIONS

Prof. Walter Heller, who is to serve as chairman of Mr. Kennedy's board of economic advisers, says that income amounting to 60 billion dollars has been escaping taxation. This may cause some of the more ardent public spenders to smack their lips.

The lip-smackers may yet learn the wisdom of that old proverb, "Don't count your chickens before they're hatched." Heller has not yet indicated what ideas he has to help the collectors latch onto the elusive cash. The lip-smackers might even want to mull over the prudent thought that if more tax money becomes available some of it might go for debt reduction instead of being spent right away.

One thing could surely be agreed to by everyone—except, possibly, those who possess the income Professor Heller has his eyes on. This is that if billions of dollars have been escaping taxation, they should be brought into the fold for shearing as soon as possible, if only in fairness to taxpayers who pay in full.

BOATING SAFETY

Since most boating is done in the summer, this may be a good time to sit back and meditate a bit on the subject. The notion is prompted by Coast Guard data showing that during the first six months of 1960 boating accidents killed 261 persons and caused property damage amounting to more than a million dollars.

These are disturbing figures, however far they fall short of highway tolls. The figures become even more disturbing when coupled with the fact that boating seems destined to continue the rapid increase made in recent years.

The best thing a boat owner can do is to familiarize himself with safety rules. An excellent way to do that is to get the Coast Guard booklet, "Recreational Boating Guide." It makes good reading these winter nights.

DOLLARS AND SENSE

Twenty-seven states and the District of Columbia currently have in effect "safe driver insurance plans" whereby drivers with accident-free records are given discounts and bad drivers are penalized with higher premiums.

First introduced by insurance companies in California in 1959, the plans have been enthusiastically received by motorists. More important than any money savings for individuals is that the idea is one of the best incentives yet devised for safe driving.

BOWED BRUMMEL

Hat makers are jubilant that John F. Kennedy will wear a topper for his inauguration, though glove manufacturers are said to be worried that he may neglect their particular specialty.

The idea is that whatever Kennedy wears will result in a boom for a particular business. To set U.S. factories humming perhaps he should wear, or at least have an assistant carry: galoshes, raincoat, overcoat, vest, parka, umbrella, cane, bathing suit, bathrobe, smoking jacket, hunting attire, riding habit, dungarees, safety helmet, etc.

IT'S BEEN DONE BEFORE

Cafes in the Latin quarter of Tampa, Fla., have changed their menu listings from "Cuban" mixed sandwiches to "Spanish" mixed sandwiches. Before hooting too loudly at this nonsense, ask old-timers about the Liberty cabbage (sauerkraut) and Salisbury steak (hamburger) of World War I.

AREA OF AGREEMENT

The United States and Russia seldom agree on anything, so it is news when Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, denounces flying saucers as "fantastic fairytales." The U.S. Air Force has long held the same view. Now the only task remaining is to convince those little green men...

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
ON MEANNESS

Apart from reading Cleveland Amory's book on the decay of American society, I read the learned sociological study of Lee Mortimer on "Women Confidential," a subject on which no one knows too much. I envy these men who know the ins and outs of everybody's lives and the goings and comings of various celebrities. They must have a wonderful time staying up all night and sleeping all day.

Wickedness is not my special line, although I often deal with politicians. But I am always astonished at how many decent people there are in the world who mind their own business. Now this fellow, Lee Mortimer, is a very fine person and if I were in need, I can imagine no one who would come to my rescue sooner, but why does he wallow in sheer wickedness as he does in this book?

Well, there is no telling about human beings. The other day, I read somewhere that I was mean, which really I cannot be. It is true that I am a suspicious person but then, that is an occupational disease. Old reporters were trained to be suspicious. They always thought of the old man who gave little girls candy. They looked upon all politicians as such. They saw a reformer and wondered what he got out of his reform. They dug in all the muck of their day. They topped great reputations with small tattle. They were the guardians of the people, the tribunes in the forum. It was a glorious profession and the cynical feared lest their sentimentality be exposed.

Then came the day of giving everyone the benefit of the doubt. Therefore, little was dug up but as one editor said, "It will be a great story when we get it." One politely sits and waits for the truth to become available. And if the truth never became available, what then?

It is of course, a question and I think Cleveland Amory answers it quite fully in his enormous tome "Who Killed Society?" which is so truly dead.

And yet, let me tell you of a wonderful experience I had on New Year's Eve. I went to the house of a great lady who belonged when it was something to belong. And there was gathered a fine company of quietly distinguished persons. And when the moment of midnight approached, the lights were put out, a window was opened; the guests were silent except for the playing of a piano in eloquent beauty. The old year flew out; the new year flew in. The window was shut; the lights went on. We bade each other a happy New Year with whatever affection. And we were jolly but not noisy.

It was a novel ceremony which my hostess had known since she was a little girl many decades ago when her mother pursued it.

There is much peace and beauty in this world in many places that are not publicized. In fact, this is the real strength of our country which is strong despite all the trickeries of politicians and cunning persons who fight not for the whole of what we are but for some little part of us which they fill. I was thinking of that the other day when I listened to a recording of Dimitri Tiomkin's music for John Wayne's picture, "The Alamo." I listened to a recording of Dimmy's music and realized how this country can sear an alien's soul; so that he becomes a part of us. It is authentic American music; not this horrible beat thing called rock-n-roll, but music that makes you want to sing as we sung the tunes of Stephen Foster or of Gus Edwards.

A European journalist writes to me, asking why President-elect Kennedy appoints so many school teachers to big jobs. I had not noticed that but if it so, it might be because what the man knows he got from teachers whom he respects. The Europeans speak of an intellectual as though he were really something special. The words are full of intellectuals and even intelligent folks here. I know some simple gals, friends of mine, who rattle away in three or four languages, have read everything, been everywhere, majored in this or that and wash their own dishes. This is a country without real class distinctions, although a few that Amory writes about or Mortimer ridicules would prefer to be what never can be.

Am I mean? Say not so. It is too close to Christmas. (Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Duodenal Ulcer Operation

Many Times Unsatisfactory

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From a desperately unhappy housewife of West Palm Beach, Fla., comes the following:

"My husband and I have not been able to get along together for the past five years. Because we have three lovely children we have tried to keep together until they are old enough to go off to school or college. But it's just no use and I'm convinced it would be better all around if my husband and I got a divorce since the atmosphere in our home is terrible.

"The children don't know which way to turn. They go out as much as they can. And when they're home, they're afraid to say a word for fear of hurting the feelings of their mother or their father.

"But here's the difficulty. My husband has a duodenal ulcer. And every time I mention separation or divorce to him, his ulcer kicks up and I have to put him back on his diet and his powders. Don't you think it would be better for him to have the operation and get it over once and for all rather than keep on like this?"

Whoa, dear "housewife." Better hold everything until you've thought your problem through. First of all, do you think there's a possibility that there may be some causal relationship between your marital difficulties and your husband's ulcer flare-ups? This consideration is not intended to place blame or take sides. It does raise the important question as to a possible relationship between an organic disease (soma) and an emotional trigger (psychosomatic illness). For, if this possibility exists, removing the ulcer is tackling the problem at the wrong end. It's almost like amputating the foot to get relief from the pain of a bunion.

Secondly, you are misinformed if you think the operation is curative in all instances. Here are some facts about surgery for the patient with duodenal ulcer.

The immediate postoperative mortality is 3.8 per cent under best auspices. And probably higher nationwide.

On a ten-year follow-up study, Dr. Kiefer of Boston's Lahey Clinic reported 13.4 per cent ulcer recurrences, a weight reduction of more than 10 pounds in 34 per cent, unpleasant postoperative distress in 14 per cent, and inability to resume the usual occupation in 10 per cent.

And in confirmation of the Kiefer findings, Dr. Harold Harvey of New York's Presbyterian Hospital reports an "incidence of 15 to 20 per cent unsatisfactory results" following the classic operation for duodenal ulcer.

Now in view of these less optimistic facts about a surgical ulcer cure, don't you think you and your husband would be wiser to see what can be done to patch up your marital difficulties? You may not know it but you have at your disposal, at little or no cost, the facilities of the Family Service Association of America, a non-profit organization sponsored by great industrialists and labor leaders.

To avail yourselves of their wonderful services, write their main office at 215 Park Avenue South, New York City 3, N. Y., and you'll be directed to whichever of their 290 member agencies is nearest to your home.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—An exclusive transcription from an imaginary recording of a conversation that never took place between two bus riders, on the day sketches of the proposed Franklin D. Roosevelt memorial were printed in the papers:

First bus rider, unfolding his paper: "Good gosh."

Second bus rider: "What's the matter now?"

Look at this.

"What is it?"

"It's a memorial to F.D.R. they're going to build in Washington at a cost of 2 1/2 million dollars."

"Did he design it? With a ouija board?"

"No. It looks like the Republicans did. For revenge."

"Looks like the end of civilization after being struck by a hydrogen bomb."

"That's too colossal for even F. D. R. to think of."

"Well then maybe it's just a pictorial progress report on Washington's slum clearance plan. A bulldozer or one of those street ripper-uppers has just passed by and they left the slabs of concrete paving standing on end just the way they happened to light. Are you sure you read it right?"

"Yes, it says here that some of F. D. R.'s famous quotations are going to be carved on the slabs."

"You mean the revised version of the ten commandments, like, 'Thou shalt tax and tax! Spend and spend!'"

"ROOSEVELT DIDN'T SAY THAT. It was Harry Hopkins."

Besides, there are only eight stones, not 10."

"Just goes to show what inflation has done to the Four Freedoms."

"It looks a little like a modernistic cemetery design."

"Oh, I get it now. It's the New Deal graveyard. There's one gravestone for every one of its late lamented reforms—"

Triple A, the Supreme Court packing plan, the Senate purge, the NRA Blue Eagle recovery plan, WPA, PWA, OPA—and that will be for all the little pigs that got plowed under during the depression."

"That's negative. Can't you get a more positive approach? This will memorialize the ones he guessed right on, or that didn't turn out so bad after all."

"You mean like the one about, 'I promise every American mother that her boys will not be sent to fight in foreign wars?'"

"YOU'RE TOO CYNICAL. This is supposed to be inspirational—uplifting."

"Inspirational for whom? Kennedy?"

"No. Nixon and the GOP. Get into the spirit of it."

"How about calling it, 'Spirit of the New Frontiers?'"

"That's better. It looks a little like 'A Planned Economy.'"

"Too subtle. Call it 'Washington Chaos and Confusion.'"

"We have enough of that now without building a monument to it. 165 feet high and covering 27 acres."

"Why are the stones broken off at the top, dog-eared like?"

"That's modern art. Don't you appreciate it?"

"That art ain't modern. It's archaeology—right out of the dark ages, Easter Island. The Sphinx. Nobody ever figured out what they stood for either."

Eisenhower Message Seen

Dollar Inflation Warning

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — President Eisenhower has issued a challenge to those in control of the government in the next four years: will the dollar, which is now worth about 47 cents in purchasing power, as compared with 1939, be worth only 25 cents in another four years?

Mr. Eisenhower made no predictions in his "State of the Union" message as to the future but pointed out what had happened to the dollar prior to 1953 when he took office and what has happened since.

The dollar, which twenty-one years ago had a value of 100 cents, was worth 71.2 cents in 1946. Under the Democratic administration, it had dropped to 53.5 cents when the Eisenhower administration came into office.

Decline Checked

During the last eight years the rate of decline has been checked, and in the last two years the dollar has varied only a point or two. This is why the President points with pride to "stabilization."

While President-elect Kennedy has not made any statement as to what his fiscal policies will be, except in general terms, the sudden flood of study reports by his "task forces" has produced great uneasiness in the business community. If carried out by the Congress it means that enormous expenditures could easily force the dollars even further down from the 1960 level.

Mr. Eisenhower's message to Congress was, of course, a timely effort to place upon the record exactly what had been done in the last eight years.

Answers Charged

The American people were told many things during the recent political campaign that were almost fantastic in their exaggerations. They were told, for instance, that the country had been

"stagnating," and that the United States had lost its "prestige" abroad and had failed in its foreign policies. Yet Mr. Eisenhower points now to the total employment as much higher than it was eight years ago and to the national output as having reached a record height. He stresses the fact that the average family in 1959 had an income of $6,250, or 15 per cent higher in dollars of constant purchasing power than in 1952. He declares that the real wages of the American factory worker has risen 20 per cent during the last eight years.

Cites Other Gains

Naturally Mr. Eisenhower calls attention to the strengthening of the mutual security program, the development of world trade, the ending of hostilities in Korea, the creation of a powerful deterrent military force, and the establishment of a fiscal responsibility which has checked the menace of inflation and reduced the tax burden.

The President says frankly that he does not wish to imply that all is well today or that all problems are solved. For he aqas wistfully that, "unlike Presidential administrations, problems rarely have terminal dates."

The biggest achievement has been the avoidance of any war during eight years. The outcome of the Korean War can hardly be regarded, of course, as entirely the responsibility of the present administration. For, rightly or wrongly, practically all the important provisions of the armistice agreement had been agreed upon by both sides before the Eisenhower administration took office.

Influenced by Allies

Critics, of course, still say that it was the conduct of the Korean War and the failure to bomb the bases of the Red Chinese that the real blunder was made by the Truman administration. It has been asserted that much of the trouble in the world has resulted from that error on the part of the West. But it should be added that the Truman administration was directly influenced by the wishes of Britain and France, who discouraged any all-out retaliation when the Red Chinese entered the war in Korea. Allies have also caused the Eisenhower administration to digress from some of its policies, and the same is bound to happen under the Kennedy administration.

The Economic Side

But it is on the economic side that the President's message will evoke the widest comment. For the public is not aware of the many influences that can, for instance, interfere with the stabilization of the dollar and cause its value to decline. Labor-union power has grown so formidable that it can inflate the economy almost at will.

An examination of the history of the decline in the value of the dollar indicates that as wages have gone up, prices rose, and the dollar dropped in its purchasing power. Even today, the labor-union leaders are boldly urging that a thirty-two-hour week be established and that workers be paid the same for the shorter week as they are being paid for forty hours. In the end, of course, this added wage cost would have to be paid for by the American people in the form of higher prices. This could quickly bring a 25-cent dollar.

Biggest Challenge

It's on the economic side that Mr. Kennedy will have his biggest challenge. For even if he can keep America out of war without materially increasing the present rate of expenditures for defense, he will find that the larger and larger appropriations required for more and more benefits under "welfare" programs—being advocated by his own advisers and key supporters in the pressure groups—will put the budget out of balance for several years to come. So it is understandable that, in his final report to Congress, President Eisenhower should at least wish to present to the American people a review of the "State of the Union" for the last eight years and describe explicitly in language exactly the condition in which the country is being left on Jan. 20, 1961. Postmaster Carey Discloses Routes For City Delivery

A detailed outline of the improved mail service that will be available in Woodstock township when city delivery is instituted was outlined today by Postmaster Leon Carey.

The service will begin after the Woodstock township town board has completed the erection of street signs and residences and business establishment have been numbered in compliance with the federal postal law.

There will be three types of routes—the regular RFD, a mounted route and foot delivery. The rural free delivery carrier will remain a virtual "post office on wheels," Carey said. The driver must pass a fourth class postal exam and will sell stamps, money orders, registered letters and packages, etc.

The foot carrier will pick up stamped letters and packages up to a maximum of a shoe box size and will deliver mail to the front door of business or residence. The mounted route is similar to the foot carrier, uses a car and serves the patron at the curb, similar to the RFD. There will be package and parcel post delivery to all business and private residences along the foot carrying route.

The foot carrying route will begin in the neighborhood of the Joe Holdridge motel and continue along Route 212 and all side roads owned and maintained by the town as far as the country club bridge. The town-owned stipulation is to insure that the roads will be plowed after heavy snowfalls. The service will also be furnished on Rock City Road as far as the Colony Hotel.

One General Delivery

There will be one general delivery in the morning beginning around 9 a. m., perhaps earlier. An extra delivery is planned in the afternoon for business houses in the general area from Library Lane to the Grand Union and possibly to the Warren Huttly section.

The mounted route will start at the Colony on Rock City Road and proceed to Parnassus Square, the lower Byrdcliffe Road, east on the Glasco Turnpike to Harder Corners and south into Simmons Drive for boxes in front of homes. It will then back-track to the Holdridge Motel, then west on Route 212 to Schoonmaker Lane (where there is no delivery now); the Deane Elywn development; thence to Woodstock Gardens and Woodstock Meadows, the Yerry Hill Road, Broadview Road, Ohio Mountain Road to Sully's Bridge, the Mill Stream Road to Route 375, along Ratterman Road to Country Club Lane.

At least three pickup boxes are planned, one in the post office area, one on the Village Green and another in the general area of the Grand Union and Huttly's.

Carey noted that there are potential RFD stops that must be made daily under the present setup. The city delivery is expected to reduce that total by approximately 300 stops.

The postmaster also pointed up the fact that few towns the size of Woodstock have city delivery. He said the city delivery postal routes were first inspected on March 7, 1958, and approved by the postal department on March 14, 1958.

General Lehar's Interview With H. Schimmerling

General Lehar? The first question, of course: "Is he related to the composer of the 'Merry Widow'?" Yes, he is his brother. But greatness of men should not be judged by their names or relations.

As a general of the former imperial Austrian army, he was one of the few Knights of the Maria Theresa Order. This medal was given to soldiers only if they had performed heroic deeds of vital strategic importance against the command or without the consent of their superiors.

All this may not sound too important in our time in which the imperial generals are utterly unpopular. But considering the fact that Lehar saved an entire Army Corps from destruction when he led it through the Piave River in Northern Italy at the end of the First World War, and this against the order of his superior commander, reveals the other side of the picture: the heroic idea stemming from humanity rather than militarism; let's call it, Strategy of Humanism. What is greater than a man risking his own life and existence in order to save others, in defiance of the order of his superiors?

Lehar's oath of allegiance to the Austrian Emperor forced him to protect Charles at his unsuccessful attempt to regain the Hungarian crown after World War I. Facing the emperor unexpectedly in the little Hungarian border town, he had no other choice. If anyone, Lehar would have all reason to be a monarchist; but he is not. He is politically wise and progressive. He calls the monarchist idea in Austria Utopian and impracticable. He is not bound by oath to Otto von Hapsburg; he is a sincere, upright and good citizen of today's Austria.

Victim on Nazism
Lehar was a victim of Nazism. Before the start of World War 2 in a Munich restaurant he made a remark to the effect that the Nazis would lose a war if Great Britain and the United States would join against Hitler. A fellow listening at the table next to Lehar's denounced him. Shortly thereafter he lost his name and position in Berlin. He fled Germany. In Vienna, foreseeing many events that made history during the war and forecasting the downfall of the Third Reich, he escaped again and again and was saved from destruction by only his past history and helping friends.

Lehar still has an open wound from World War I. It has to be ressed every day. Despite this and his age, he has a young mind and undestructible spirit. We sat in his room and drank some delicate wine. This room is unique. He calls it his bedroom, dining room, living room and office. Indeed, he had all the facilities of these rooms united into one chamber and everything needed practically within reach of his arms.

The man then showed us to the other rooms and the upper floor. The house is a museum and under "historic protection" of the City of Vienna. Once it belonged to Schikaneder, the clever author of the libretto to Mozart's Magic Flute. The paintings on the ceiling show scenes from this opera. There are still some more Mozart memorials and an extensive collection of Lehariana, pertaining to the life of Franz, the composer and of Anton, the general. Franz Lehar wrote many music scores without making any mistakes, but he was able to write his Last Will without making a mistake. Due to this mistake, only the house was inherited by his brother, but a greedy sister grabbed as many of the precious furniture pieces she could and sold them—what a pity—before she went to Canada.

Enduring Quality

The house, you may call it "Schikaneder Castle" or Lehar Castle" witnessed the history of the Josephinian and the Napoleonic period, the era of the Vienna Congress and Metternich's Absolutism. It lasted through the revolutions of the 19th century and survived two world wars. Today, General Lehar has leased some rooms to American families, members of the Atomic Energy Commission. The rent he receives helps to keep up the place. No visitor to Vienna should miss this place in the 19th district of Vienna, Hackhofer Street No. 18. And don't forget to see the private chapel at the left hand side after you enter the house.

General Lehar has lost a fortune; but the greater treasure is still his, namely, his great confidence in God and fate, perfect optimism, with a fine sense of humor, contentedness and the gratifying satisfaction to have lived a heroic life which was devoted to ideals in which he believed, without making concessions or compromises between good and evil. This is General Anton Freiherr von Lehar.

—H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

'Why Christ' Is Topic For Sunday Sermon At Shady Methodist

"Why Christ" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. H. Chase at the regular Sunday evening worship service in the Methodist Church of Shady, beginning at 7:30 p. m. A coffee and fellowship hour follows the regular service, with the public invited.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of the Phoenicia Charge, comprising the churches of Lanesville, Phoenicia, Willow, and Shady, will be held in the Methodist Church Hall at Shady on Wednesday evening, January 18, beginning at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. George P. Werner, superintendent of the Methodist Churches in this area, will conduct the meeting. All church members are invited to attend this meeting.

Sunday school at Shady is held every Sunday morning at 10:30, with Arthur MacDaniel in charge. Classes are held for all ages and visitors are always welcome.

Members Barred From Communion

Donegan Back Rector in Row Over Social Snub to Convert

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP)—Bishop Horace W. B. Donegan has given his backing to a Protestant Episcopal rector here who said he would not welcome to Holy Communion any of his parishioners who sanctioned a recent social snub to a convert from Judaism.

The communion announcement was made Thursday by the Rev. George French Kempell Jr., of the Church of St. James the Less in this fashionable New York City suburb.

Father Kempell said his parishioners' sanction of the barring of the youth from a country club Christmas dance was "a sin against God."

Bishop Donegan, head of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, said in New York City Thursday night:

"It is the duty of religious leaders to condemn religious, racial and social prejudices that embitter life and separate mankind. Discrimination, in whatever forms it expresses itself, should be repugnant to all of us children of God and as citizens of a democratic society."

Father Kempell told his parishioners:

"Any one who has in any way—by word, or in thought or in deed—acquiesced with this position of the club is no longer welcome to receive Holy Communion at this altar—at God's altar—in this parish until such time as he has worked out his own peace with God in his own way."

He suggested general confession at morning or evening prayer, or individual confession to him or to any Episcopal priest.

Charles S. McAllister, a White Plains, N.Y., insurance agent and president of the Scarsdale Country Club where the dance was held, said he would have no comment on Father Kempell's stand. Neither would he comment on the club's guest-admission policy.

Father Kempell said members of his parish were among those who made the decision to bar the convert from the dance or went along with the decision. The youth, born Jewish, was converted to the Protestant Episcopal faith two years ago.

The clergyman said the youth, whose identity was not made public, was so hurt that he would not go to church to receive communion on Christmas Sunday.

The youth had been selected as an escort by a girl—also not identified—who was making her debut at the dance, the club's annual Holly Ball.

Father Kempell, who is an honorary member of the club, said the girl's mother told him that she had submitted to the appropriate committee of the club the names of her daughter's two escorts for the dance. The mother said this was done in accordance with the club's regulations.

The mother, who was herself a member of the committee, told the rector she was informed by the "escort subcommittee" that one of her daughter's choices was unacceptable "because he is Jewish." The mother said the subcommittee's decision was confirmed later by the club's board of governors.

Father Kempell said: "If our Lord Jesus Christ had come back to earth in Scarsdale in time for the Holly Ball, he would not have been allowed to escort a young lady of this parish to that dance."

Utica Builder Is Indicted for Tax Dodge of $20,673

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The head of a Utica construction firm was under indictment today on charges of evading federal income taxes totaling $20,673.

William O'R. Hayes, president and treasurer of Mid State Builders Inc., was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury. He was accused of evading tax payments from 1956 to 1959.

Daniel Laino, a former majority leader of the Utica Common Council and a city alderman for 16 years, was indicted on a charge of evading $3,256 in federal income taxes while an officer of Nick Laino's Sons Inc., a contracting firm.

Laino is a brother of Deputy Police Chief James Laino, who was suspended Monday after his indictment on a charge of perjury and conspiracy to hide evidence from a special grand jury probing vice and crime in Utica.

Other indictments returned by the federal grand jury Thursday:

Albany A. Sweet, George Stahl and Ernest Stahl, all of Amsterdam, failure to purchase $50 federal gambling-tax stamps.
George Agen of Whitesboro, accused of preparing fraudulent income tax forms for Hayes and Mid State Builders Inc.

Jacob Ruppert, New York City

Untouchables Go On With Program Despite Warning

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten stations of the American Broadcasting Co. presented the taped TV show "The Untouchables" Thursday night despite a warning from the director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

At the end of the one-hour program came a network announcement that nothing in the show was intended to reflect on the integrity of the bureau.

In a telegram last Monday the bureau's director, James V. Bennett, told the 10 TV stations that his organization would oppose renewal of their broadcasting licenses if they showed the second installment of the two-part program, called "The Big Train."

The theme—admittedly fiction—involved an abortive attempt by mobsters to free Al Capone from a transcontinental train transferring him and other prisoners from Atlanta to Alcatraz prison in San Francisco Bay. The show depicted a prison guard as being in cahoots with Capone.

Bennett, after the first installment, asked ABC to withhold the second until he had consulted with the Federal Communications Commission and the U.S. attorney general.

"To picture honorable and courageous officers as venal, and a public institution like the Atlanta Penitentiary as toadying to a character like Capone," said Bennett, "is an unforgivable public disservice."

Omar F. Elder Jr., vice president and general counsel of ABC, had wired a reply to Bennett in which he said he doubted anyone would interpret the unfavorable portrayal of one or two guards as "representative of, or cast any general reflection upon, the integrity of other members of that group."

In Santa Fe, N.M., Harold A. Cox, who was an official at Atlanta prison when Capone was moved from there, said he was "highly incensed" by the program.

Cox, now warden of New Mexico Penitentiary, said the program should be labeled as fiction if it was intended as such.

Icebreakers . . .

she described as a tramp steamer.

Facing Trouble

She said that a Swedish ship, the Stegheholm, traveling south, has just appeared upstream and was making good progress toward the Ellmarie-Cobetas bottleneck that it "will probably have trouble" at that point.

The Stegheholm, she said, is a large white freighter with the paint peeling off.

Another freighter, unidentified, also appeared upstream shortly before noon, approaching the bottleneck area.

Mrs. Glunt said the icebreakers, from the New York Coast Guard Group, were traveling in circles around the Cobetas and Ellmarie, pounding the 12-inch ice with their heavily armored bows.

The Sauk is 110 feet long, the Firebush 180 feet.

During the morning an orange helicopter kept buzzing over the area, Mrs. Glunt said. She wasn't sure whether it was a news flight or a Coast Guard unit.

Just before noon, as she looked out of the window, she saw two tugs and a barge, traveling north, passing the Cobetas and Ellmarie, making slow progress.

B&O, Chessie Vote Merger; 2nd Top Line

BALTIMORE (AP)—Only approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission is needed to form the nation's second largest railroad network.

A merger of the Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio, endorsed by directors of both roads Thursday, would produce a company with 11,000 miles of track and assets of more than $2.3 billion. Only the Pennsylvania is larger or richer.

B&O's endorsement of C&O's stock exchange offer had been in doubt until Thursday. The joint announcement of hopes for a "prompt unification" leaves the New York Central out in the cold.

The Central also had made a stock exchange offer to the B&O and the two roads recently had been studying possible savings through affiliation.

Thursday's resolution by the B&O and C&O directors said neither line will continue or enter into merger discussions with any other railroad until the ICC acts. Central officials had no immediate comment but had said earlier they would fight a B&O-C&O merger.

Police Investigate Series of Thefts

Theft of hub caps, cigarettes and the rifling of a church coin box were reported recently to local police who also reported return of a calculating machine stolen several nights ago from the Levine Brothers Bag Co., 38 Mill Street.

Joseph A. Wenzel, of the Wenzel Amusement Co., 84 Andrew Street, notified police headquarters early today that a half case of cigarettes, valued at $59.80 was taken from a station wagon parked in his driveway between 8:30 and 11 p. m. Thursday. The case contained mixed brands, he said.

Eighty cents in coins was reported taken from a coin box at St. Joseph's Church, used in conjunction with the sale of pamphlets and books, Officer Francis Buchanan notified police headquarters early Thursday afternoon that a detective was needed at the church. Detective Harold DeGraff investigated and found that the coin box had been pried open.

John J. Connors, of 26 Boulder Avenue, notified police headquarters Thursday night that four hub caps had been taken from his 1959 Chevrolet while it was parked in the Dietz Stadium area.

The calculating machine taken from the Mill Street bag plant, Detective DeGraff said, was reported found Thursday in a snow bank on East Union Street (The High Road). Its owners recovered it after someone reported seeing it there.

Police Attending Course on Own, Study First Aid

Police department personnel attending a school dealing with first aid are doing so on their own time, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy emphasized today.

Conducted by Red Cross instructors, the school continues another two weeks. The instructors from the County Red Cross chapter and Daniel Morehouse, John Ralston and Harry McNamara.

The standard course is 10 hours divided into five lessons of two hours duration each. Certification upon completion of the course is valid for three years.

The first lesson deals with control of serious bleeding and bandaging; the second with traumatic shock, asphyxia, artificial respiration; the third with poisoning, head injuries, sprains, fractures, frost bite and common emergencies; the fourth continues with common emergencies (fainting, convulsion etc.) and the training of an injured person. The fifth deals with burns, heat stroke and heart attacks.

Cordts Bank Director

The name of John N. Cordts was omitted inadvertently from the list of directors of the Roubt National Bank published in Thursday's issue of The Freeman. Cordts was re-elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy trading and a moderately higher average continued in the stock market early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .40 at 227.10 with industrials up 1.10, rails off .10 and utilities unchanged.

The churning upward motion—profit taking mingled with reinvestment—resumed a performance which has continued all this week.

Brokers said that, on balance, it reflected a happier outlook toward the economy and the market, based on hopes of a business recovery and of economic measures to be taken by the Kennedy administration.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.29 at 630.79. Corporate bonds rose slightly. U.S. government bonds eased. Trading was quiet.

JFK Investment Assets Valued At $10 Million

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy appears to have investment assets valued at perhaps up to $10 million.

This was indicated Thursday night when it was disclosed that Kennedy has converted all of his investments over which he had control into government bonds—federal, state and municipal.

Pierre Salinger, his press secretary, told newsmen in response to questions that the president-elect's total holdings now consist of such bonds, plus the houses he owns in Washington and at Hyannis Port, Mass., and three trust funds set up for him and his brothers and sisters by their father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

Salinger said the president-elect's income from these trusts—set up in 1926, 1936 and 1949—amounts to about $100,000 annually, after taxes. The income before taxes reportedly is about $500,000 a year.

Assuming interest at the rate of about 4 to 5 per cent, the funds could have a principal value of close to $10 million, Kennedy has other holdings, including the undisclosed value of investments he has converted into government bonds.

His home in Washington's fashionable Georgetown area reportedly is valued at about $100,000. The Hyannis Port place is an additional asset.

Salinger refused to give figures on Kennedy's holdings beyond the income realized from the trust funds.

The three trusts are irrevocable, which means the president-elect has no control over investment of the principal. His mother reportedly is one of the trustees.

Home Is Looted As Mate Keeps Vigil for Wife

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Thieves looted a bereaved husband's home of $4,000 Thursday night while he kept vigil beside his wife's body in a funeral home.

Michael Gruttaduro, a retired produce dealer, told police he found his apartment in shambles when he returned home. He said the missing $4,000 had been concealed in a wooden box inside an old steamer trunk. He said the money came from sale of his produce farm. He said he kept it in the house "in case of an emergency."

His wife, Maria, died Wednesday.

Free Tickets for Disabled

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 250 disabled veterans, military hospital patients and Medal of Honor winners are getting free $100 tickets to the preinaugural show being staged by Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford.

A spokesman said today patients will be selected from Bethesda Naval Hospital, Walter Reed Army Hospital and hospitals at nearby Andrews Air Force Base and Ft. Belvoir.

Snow, Rain Outlook For Area's Weekend

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today, to 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Eastern New York—More moderate temperatures to midweek, averaging around 5 degrees above normal. Snow, probably mixed with rain, over the weekend, and another precipitation period likely by Tuesday or Wednesday.

Western New York—Changeable weather is indicated with temperatures expected to average a few degrees above normal. Colder over the weekend with some snow flurries likely. Warmer Monday, probably followed by snow or rain. Tuesday. A turn to colder and snow flurries about Wednesday. Less than ¼ inch of melted precipitation is expected.

Temperature normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from daytime highs of 26-33, to overnight lows of 6-14 north and 12-19 south.

Legal Moves Are Underway for Two At Georgia 'U'

MACON, Ga. (AP)—A legal move seeking readmission of two Negro students to the University of Georgia was planned today as the FBI and the Georgia Legislature opened separate investigations into rioting on the university campus.

The students were suspended following an anti-integration demonstration in which stones and firecrackers were thrown and police used tear gas. They were taken from the campus at Athens early Thursday and returned to their homes in Atlanta.

Constance Motley, an attorney for Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, promptly asked the U.S. District Court in Macon to reverse the suspension.

In overruling her oral motion, U.S. Dist. Judge W. A. Boodle suggested a written motion be filed. The judge conferred with Mrs. Motley and attorneys for the state and then said court would reconvene at 2 p. m., today.

Civil Service Exam

A new examination for Communications Specialist has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling positions in the U. S. Army Communications Agency in the Washington, D. C., and Winchester, Va., areas. Positions in other Federal agencies in the Washington area may also be filled.

Starting salaries for these positions range from $6,435 to $8,955 a year. No written test is required. Announcements and application forms may be obtained from Leo W. Darwak, examiner-in-charge at Kingston Central Post Office, Broadway or from the U. S. Civil Service Commissioner, Washington, 25, D. C.

Adlai in Farewell

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, expressing the hope that U.S.-Soviet relations may improve and tensions in Latin America relax, took leave of his Chicago friends Thursday to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Perhaps in the months ahead the United States and the Soviets might "do things jointly which we have not been able to do in the past," he said at a farewell testimonial.

The reception was sponsored by the Illinois chapter of the American Association for the United Nations and the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

Cuba Rally May Be Move to Whip Labor Into Line

HAVANA (AP)—The workers' rally called for tonight by Fidel Castro is generally believed to be a move to whip dissident labor factions into line.

Observers saw the latest big parade as an attempt to counter the effect of the open demonstration of anticommunism last month by electrical workers, who marched on the presidential palace shouting "Cuba si! Russia no!"

That resulted in a nationwide purge of their union, including the anti-Communist leadership. The labor confederation hierarchy has been successful so far in putting down the dissension.

It was generally assumed that Castro would address the rally tonight.

He is expected to announce that the "invasion" from the United States had been scared off by the extensive display of Czech and Soviet arms which has made much of the island an armed camp for several weeks.

Roman Catholic Church sources said that the heads of all parochial schools have been summoned to an urgent meeting. The informants said the conference may draft a protest against the occupation of Belen College by Castro's militia last week.

Classes at Belen, a grammar and high school operated by the Jesuits, were suspended when troops moved in — as they have into numerous other public buildings — on the pretext of invasion defense.

Kramer Will . . .

City College of New York and Orange County Community College. Martorana is presently engaged in the real estate business. He has been associated in the past with several business concerns in an administrative capacity. In the recent census enumeration he served as crew leader in charge of six townships. Martorana was honorably discharged from the Army in 1946 with the rank of master sergeant.

Active in civic affairs in his community, serving as president of the Highland Chamber of Commerce, general chairman of the Town of Lloyd Hudson-Champlain Celebration, vice-commander of Lloyd Post 193, American Legion, is a past adjutant of the Ulster County American Legion, and has also participated in many fund raising activities in his area.

Martorana was recently chosen executive chairman of the Town of Plattekill Republican Club. He is presently serving as secretary of the Ulster County Young Republican Club.

In accepting the resignation of Kramer Thursday, Robert A. Snyder as clerk of the Board of Supervisors stated that his services as deputy clerk and assistant budget officer had been one of "devoted and loyal dedication to the people of the County of Ulster." He felt certain that these same qualities would be enjoyed by all the inhabitants of the 29th Congressional District. He said he was "most pleased" to secure the services of one so well qualified for the position as Martorana.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Life Insurance Stocks
High on Capital Gain

Q) "How do you rate the life insurance stocks as an investment for capital gains? Can you make any recommendations from this group?"

L. B. A) I rate the life insurance stocks very highly for capital gains if you are willing to hold them over an extended period. They constitute a preferred medium for investors who can forego current income in expectation of steady growth and periodic large stock payments and stock splits.

Congress has enacted a new method of taxing the earnings of life companies which will result in moderately higher levies. This may tend to slow their growth curve somewhat but I strongly doubt that it will halt it. Underwriting profits of life companies have been helped by a continued decline in the mortality rate. They should benefit even more as time goes on.

Regarding specific recommendations, there are two situations which I particularly like. Franklin Life Insurance (OTC) is one of the fastest growing life companies in the country. They paid 50 per cent in stock in 1957, 10 per cent in 1959, and 5 per cent last year. Franklin shares have been acting very well and I look for further progress.

Commonwealth Life Insurance of Kentucky, selling recently in the low 20's, is a small but fast growing company operating mainly in the South. The company paid a 25 per cent stock dividend in 1959 and 33 1/3 per cent in 1957.

Q) "Would you give your opinion of Firstamerica I own $30,000 of the stock?"

G. L. A) My opinion is that you are in a very enviable position. Firstamerica is our largest bank holding company and operates in the fast growing western states. Despite uncertainties surrounding an anti-trust suit, long-term prospects are good. However, I wish you had told me how much of your total holdings these shares represent. If this is your only stock, I would strongly advise switching a major portion into four or five other good growth situations to diversify your risk.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Captain A. S. Hickey, USN, (retired), author of "The Story of Kingston," sent me an interesting item. It is an illustrated printed advertisement 6 by 18 inches of Carl G. Fischer, Rondout. Fischer's was established here in 1870, on the Strand, across from the Big Ferry shed. This advertisement was for those who wanted to order by mail or express.

His advertisement reads in part: "Fischer's wines and liquors... have been analyzed by American and German chemists and found strictly pure for medicinal and home use. My sales for the year 1909 exceeded 50,000 bottles, with name on bottle." He had "Fischer's pure medicinal blackberry brandy" which was recommended for summer complaints and weak stomach. There was "Fischer's XXX Tonic Port Wine, a real blood maker" and "Fischer's pure sherry, five years old" all came from 69 Strand, Rondout. These medicinal liquors could be sent even to "prohibition towns" the advertisement explained.

Fischer had a full line of the leading brands of Imported Ales and Stout in pint bottles for medicinal use, his advertisement explained. Nowadays folks drink more for pleasure, but years back, I think, liquor and wine was taken by many in small doses for strength, to enrich blood and other medicinal benefits. I remember my father sold a tonic called "Beef, Iron and Wine." Various manufacturers made it and it was given to sick, weak and children. Today the word is "vitamin." I remember one old time doctor told my father, that folks over 40 needed a little wine or liquor whichever they preferred for an appetizer before meals.

Another item Captain Hickey sent me was an illustrated booklet put out in 1910 by the Oxford Publishing Co. of Poughkeepsie, called "Little Old New York." It is a remarkable collection of old cuts and pictures of old structures of New York City. Where the original pictures are now, of course I do not know.

Most readers know just about what the corner of Fifth Avenue and Fourth Street looks like now. In this book they show an old farm house, called the Cortelyou House, built in 1699 by Claes A. Van Vechten at this intersection. In 1790 it became the property of Jacques Cortelyou, who lived there until he died in 1804. I remember a Cortelyou Road. I think in New York, being a subway station. Perhaps that is where the name comes from, that old farm house.

There is a picture of The Shakespeare Tavern. It is a substantial three-story brick structure as can be seen on our best streets. This was at Nassau and Fulton Streets, built before the Revolution, and taken down in 1836. "For a quarter of a century it was the favorite resort of merchants, politicians and artists of distinction; here DeWitt Clinton often discussed his pet project, the Erie Canal." Perhaps our John Vanderlyn stopped there too.

John James Audubon's two-story home surrounded by beautiful trees is there. Just above West 155th Street, Samuel Leggett's three-story residence at 7 Cherry Street is pictured. He

New York State Income Tax Simplification

(Fourth in a Series)

While deductions and exemptions have been re-defined under New York State's new income tax law, the actual difference between old and new law are relatively minor as far as most resident State taxpayers are concerned.

The New York "standard deduction" which is automatically claimed by those taxpayers using the Short Form (IT-200), is approximately 10 per cent of the New York adjusted gross income, but may not exceed $1,000.

Unless the taxpayer is required to make any of the additions to or subtractions from his Federal adjusted gross income (described in the third article of this series) to arrive at his New York adjusted gross income, the New York standard deduction is generally the same as the Federal.

If such additions or subtractions are required, the New York standard deduction is 10 per cent (subject to the limitation of $1,000) of the New York adjusted gross income and will not be identical with the Federal standard deduction.

A New York State taxpayer must use the standard deduction in computing his State income tax if he used it in computing his Federal tax. If itemized deductions were claimed on the individual's Federal tax return, he has a choice of claiming itemized deductions or the "standard deduction" on his State return.

In the case of a husband and wife filing a joint New York return, the standard deduction is computed the same way it is for an individual. But if a husband and wife choose to file separate State returns, the total standard deduction for both is limited to $1,000 or 10 per cent of their combined New York adjusted gross incomes, whichever is less.

The allowable standard deduction which they could have claimed on a joint return may be divided in any way they wish on their separate returns. On the other hand, on the separate Federal returns of a husband and wife, Federal provisions limit the "standard deduction" to $500 or 10 per cent of adjusted gross income, whichever is less.

Use of Federal Itemized Deductions on State Returns

A New York taxpayer using the Long Form (IT-201) or Form IT-208 may elect to itemize his deductions for State tax purposes, rather than claim the 10 per cent "standard deduction," provided he also itemized deductions on his Federal return. Even though he itemized his Federal deductions, he may, if he desires, claim the "standard deduction" on his State return in lieu of itemizing deductions.

The total of the Federal itemized deductions forms the basis for claiming itemized deductions on the State return, in the same manner as Federal adjusted gross income forms the basis for New York adjusted gross income. However, there are certain items which must be added to or subtracted from the total of the Federal itemized deductions in order to arrive at the allowable New York itemized deduction.

Medical expenses and charitable contributions allowed in computing Federal income tax are allowed automatically, in the same amount for State purposes.

The total of an individual's Federal itemized deductions may be increased up to $150 for life insurance or endowment policy premiums on his or her life.

The total of Federal itemized deductions must be reduced by the amounts claimed on the individual's Federal return for the following deductions:

1. The amount of deduction claimed for New York State income tax or for income taxes imposed by any other taxing authority.

2. The deduction claimed, if any, for interest on money borrowed to buy securities, the income of which is exempt from New York tax.

A husband and wife who file a joint Federal return claiming itemized deductions may also claim itemized deductions on their joint or separate State returns. The same additions and subtractions from Federal itemized deductions, explained above, are to be made with respect to the total of their joint Federal itemized deductions. The modified total of Federal itemized deductions thus computed becomes their New York itemized deduction.

If separate returns are filed on Form IT-208, this figure may be divided between them in any manner they wish.

Exemptions

In the matter of personal exemptions, New York State allows $600 for each Federal exemption to which the taxpayer is entitled. The number of exemptions is also the same in both cases.

Husband and wife filing joint Federal but separate State returns are allowed a New York exemption of $600 for every Federal exemption which each would be allowed if they had filed separate Federal returns.

The total exemptions on such separate State returns cannot exceed those allowed on the joint Federal return.

If a taxpayer files a separate State return, he may claim his

South thought to himself. "If it weren't Friday the 13th I would try for a grand slam; as it is, I am going to bid six no-trump and get in that extra 10 points. We need a good score and this is no time for shilly-shallying."

When the dummy hit the table South rather wished that he had deferred a trifle further to Friday the 13th and settled for a six heart contract. Playing at hearts he could afford to play the ace of hearts first and then try for seven if both opponents followed.

At six no-trump the play of a high heart was a luxury he could not afford. He might wind up going down four tricks.

He led his three of hearts. West produced the deuce. South was just about to call for the jack from dummy when he suddenly reminded himself that it was still Friday the 13th and that maybe West would have all four hearts.

South called for dummy's nine and sure enough East showed wife's personal exemption and any additional exemption she may be entitled to because of age or blindness ($600 if over 65 and $600 if blind) only if she has no gross income and is not the dependent of another taxpayer.

Local Office Has Booklet Available On Mental Health

Ulster County Association for Mental Health office at 27 E. O'Reilly Street, has excellent pamphlets on family life, stresses in society, child development and mental illness, available to the public.

The office is open Tuesday and Friday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Katherine Murphy, Florence Ellison and Irma Feldman are the committee to review and suggest educational material.

Dr. Robert M. Goldenson,

Ph.D., psychologist, will be the speaker at the second meeting of the current series, "Good Living with People". He will speak on mental health in the family at George Washington School, Tuesday, Jan. 31 at 8 p. m. The public is cordially invited to hear this accomplished speaker of radio and television.

Edward F. Shea, MD, chairman of Ulster County Mental Health Board, and David H. Timrud, MD, supervising psychiatrist, Ulster County Mental Health Center, will lead the discussion.

The next education meeting will be held Feb. 21 at the home of Mrs. Frieda Dingee, at 7:30 p. m. Persons interested in the betterment of mental health education, research and treatment are welcome to join this organization and contribute to "this worthy cause."

Colorado ranks first among states of the Union in the production of molybdenum.

Odds Favor Clear Day

Weather Outlook Good For JFK Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's a better than even chance that it won't rain or snow on Jan. 20, Inauguration Day. And the chances are even better that the temperature will be above freezing.

That should be a bit comforting if you are one of the thousands who has dealt out from $3 to $25 for a grandstand seat to watch President John F. Kennedy's inaugural parade.

One Hopes For Snow

There is one parade unit that is rather hoping for a heavy snow. That's from the state of Maine, and it has 10 northwinds huskies ready to pull a sled down Pennsylvania Avenue.

If there's no snow, they'll have to put wheels on the sled, and that might spoil the effect.

The Weather Bureau says it's still too early to forecast the weather accurately for Jan. 20, but the weathermen checked into the past records and came up with these statistics:

There's a chance of 3 out of 5 that there will be no rain or snow, and an 8 out of 10 chance for above-freezing temperatures.

Inauguration Day was changed from March 4 to Jan. 20 in 1937, for Franklin D. Roosevelt's second inaugural. It rained heavily. But since then there have been five Jan. 20 inaugurations with no precipitation.

Gold Satin Canopy

The walls of the armory are being covered with pale gray cloth called Egyptian rep. Gold eagles with 40-foot wingspreads will look down from each end of the huge auditorium. The balcony will be faced with white satin and studded with the 50 state seals.

The presidential box will be topped by a gold satin canopy. In the middle of the floor will rise a 40-foot circular bandstand decked in satin, golden ropes and a gold eagle.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS

The University of Illinois, with 23,000 students and 6,600 professors, has decided that it will admit no more high school graduates who can't read, write and spell!

In explanation, we have to go back 27 years to 1933. At that time our high schools were turning out the early fruit of the "modern" educators, such as Dewey, Kilpatrick, Rugg and various other "frontier thinkers."

The education (?) and mental apparatus of their high school kids generally was so poor, that the University set up a special course in remedial English so that these freshmen might understand the words, at least, spoken by the professors and found in college textbooks.

The University, being a State institution, felt that it had to do what the high schools had failed to do. The University believed that a college student should be able to read, spell and compose a clear sentence in the English language.

But yearly the situation got worse and the number of ignorant freshmen got larger and larger. And even one in five flunked this course!

Now the University has thrown up its hands, turned the job back to the high schools, where it belongs, and will now admit no freshman who can't read, write and spell.

Only work, discipline and sound methods can cure this mess. Otherwise, the billions of additional dollars the present "frontier thinkers" plan to give our teachers and administrators will go down a large rat hole.

4-H Contest Winners

Saturday Mrs. John J. Gaffney accompanied her daughter Kathleen and Ann Marie and Frances Pampinella to the 4-H headquarters in Kingston where the young ladies took part in cooking demonstrations. Miss Kathleen Gaffney won a blue ribbon for apple-peach delight; Ann Marie Pampinella a red ribbon for three-fruit cobbler.

The blue ribbon entitles its holder to take part in the Eastern District Horticultural Show in Kingston Jan. 26.

Holy Name Meeting

Thursday of last week the annual meeting of the Holy Name Society of St. Augustine parish was held at the rooms of the parochial school. Frank Mandy was reelected president; William Gruner, vice president; Louis Gruner Sr., treasurer; William Richards, corresponding secretary; Jack Gaffney, recording secretary; Olaf Olson, marshal. Mr. Mandy met with officers Sunday to plan the work of the society for the coming year.

Civil War Display

The 100th anniversary of the beginning of the Civil War will be observed in the local library by an exhibit of some of the interesting and authoritative books on the subject which are now owned by the library. The books include both adult and juvenile, fiction and non-fiction.

As a background for the books, a series of Currier and Ives prints will be displayed, particularly those of the Civil War years. Many of the prints were loaned by Mrs. U. Parker Decker, who also has loaned a portrait of Abraham Lincoln for the exhibit. It belonged to Mrs. Decker's father, the late John P. Whitley.

Odd Bookmarks

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Bookmarks found in books returned to the Greensboro Public Library have ranged from unpaid bills to snapshots. But that's not all. One book contained a sock, another a $5 bill and another a $1,000 insurance policy. One woman left her husband's paycheck in a book. She retrieved it.

Mt. Tremper

MT. TREMPER — Mrs. Alta DeSilva and Mrs. Grover Hedges had dinner with Mrs. Fred Smith in Lake Hill last Sunday.

Louise White of New York City spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kreitner.

Wally Pach and Werner Stone spent a few days at their cottage last week.

Mrs. Herman Hoffman visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Putt of Long Island recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Indrevigilia have returned from a visit in Miami, Fla.

OFFICE CAT

By JUNIUS Trade Mark Reg.

The boy was practicing his violin lesson in the house, while out on the porch, his younger sister was playing with the dog. As the boy scratched away on his fiddle, the hound howled dismally. The sister stood it as long as she could, then she poked her head in the open window and said:

For goodness sake, Jimmy, can't you play something he doesn't know?

Speaking of old-time habits and customs, do you remember how women would have a fit when a woman wore a two-colored dress sooner than six months after her husband died? Folks were very particular in those times, and if a woman made glances at a man within a year after the passing of her husband she was talked about.

Faith, an' it's all right, said the other, you see, I thought it was you, an' you thought it was me, an' bejabbers, it wasn't either of us!

Man—Did any of your family ever make a brilliant marriage? Friend—Only my wife.

No man is too busy to listen to people who wish to tell him how wonderful he is.

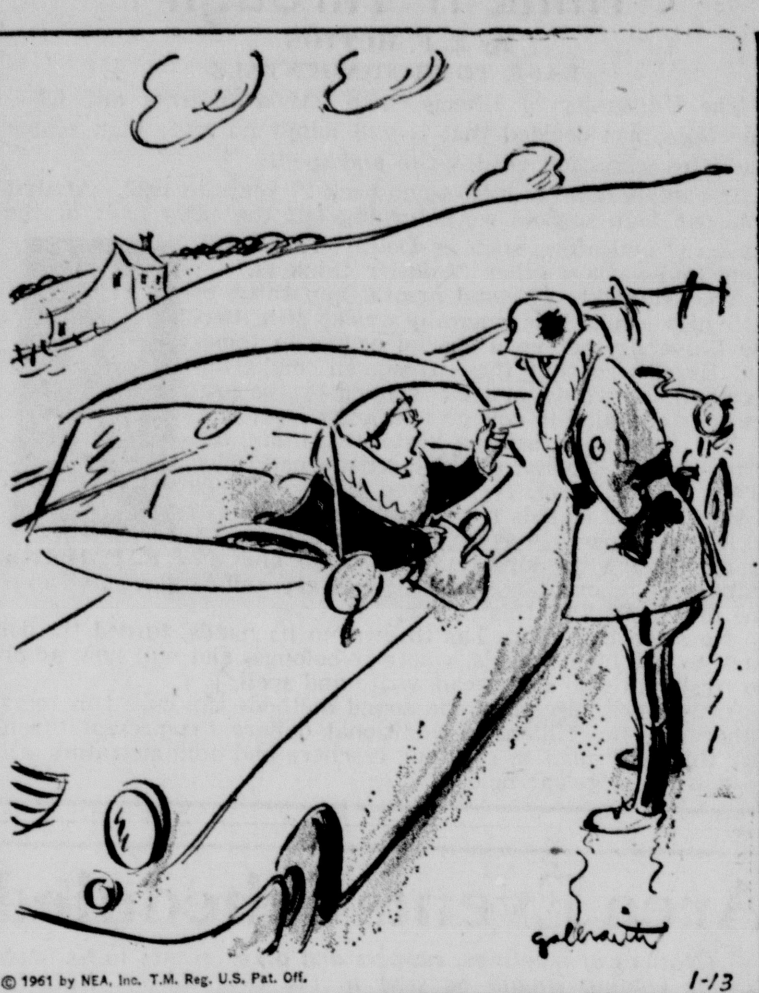

A very respectable lady whose husband years before had paid the extreme penalty for violating the law had kept the cause of his death from their son. Finally the blow fell. The youngest reaching the inquisitive age asked how his daddy died.

Hesitating for just a moment the proud mother got around the question by explaining: Your daddy was very popular. Everybody wanted him. Once while taking part in a public ceremony the platform gave away and he died.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A pair of runaway teen-agers can have their pick of several hotels for a honeymoon.

The police department telephone switchboard has been flooded with calls offering help to Caroline Bartz of Scottsville, N. Y., and Gary Benz of Avon, N. Y., since their plight became known Wednesday.

The 18-year-olds ran away from home New Year's eve and ended up in Daytona Beach broke. Police picked them up Tuesday. Caroline said they ran away because "our parents wouldn't let us marry and Gary's father told him to leave home or stop seeing me."

Her father has now given his consent and the wedding ceremony is scheduled here Saturday. Although the youngsters aren't under arrest, City Judge Robert Durden ordered them held in jail until Caroline's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bartz, arrive.

Odds on Fine

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — The city court odds were slightly more than 2½-to-1 against Brainerd restaurant operator Leonard Owens, accused of possessing football parlay sheets and lottery tickets. He was fined $68.75—slightly more than $2.50 for each of the 13 parlay sheets and 13 books of lottery tickets which officers reported finding in his restaurant.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 13

—With the new Administration coming into office, the wise investor will play safe. If J.F.K. takes his father's advice, investors should have nothing to fear; but if he takes the advice of "wild-eyed" college professors we may have much to fear.

Bonds of a company are always safer than the stocks of the same company; but stocks of some companies are safer than the bonds of other companies. Hence, readers cannot feel safe by just buying either stocks or bonds. Everything in the world is good and/or bad. No one rule will apply to all persons or to all classes of investments or real estate.

It is also wise to consider the relative prices of bonds before you buy them. The average price of good bonds has varied to yield between a high of 4½ in 1960 and a low near 3 per cent in 1946. This means that bonds were highest priced in 1946 and lowest in 1960. Hence, this is a good time to buy good bonds, although they are a little higher than a year ago.

There are three different groups of bonds, arranged in the order of their safety, as follows:

Diversification and Patience

For 62 years my family has been helping investors to conserve their savings and secure reasonable capital gains. For 40 years I have been writing this weekly column. The great lesson which I have learned is the importance of diversification. Hence, why not buy some short-term government bonds to turn quickly into cash in an emergency; plus some public utility mortgage bonds for good income; plus some tax-free municipals to save income taxes; plus a few convertible bonds as a speculation?

Most important of all, train yourself to develop patience, the ability to wait for the big market move in bonds, and real estate. Patience, diversification, and compound interest are the big necessities for making a fortune.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tony Perkins may have flipped his wig in "Psycho," but he's finding that the sensational film is therapeutic for his psyche.

It's like this, doctor. You see, he and the movies weren't meant for each other. He suffered a trauma whenever a film of his failed to light up the box office, which happened distressingly often.

Oh, he had his periods of elation when a film would do well, but then the flop neurosis would recur. The runaway hit of "Psycho" wiped out his problem and now he even has a healthy Oscar syndrome.

But let him take the couch and tell his own case history.

"It was true: I actually felt guilt-ridden. I thought that maybe I was kidding myself, that maybe the movies just weren't my medium."

"That's why it's so great to be associated with something that is associated with a $18-million gross. It is the most-seen black-and-white picture of all time; only the big color epics surpass it."

Naturally the credit goes to Alfred Hitchcock. But I think the cast contributed to its success, too. I think "Psycho" with unknowns would have been a good hit, but I don't think it would have been the smash that it is."

Perkins is now so boyishly confident that he predicts an academy nomination for himself.

Win or lose, Perkins feels a new buoyancy in his career. He just finished a film with Ingrid Bergman and Yves Montand in France and is picking and choosing for his next one. He said Hitchcock is looking for another one they can do together, though not necessarily "Psycho Strikes Back."

Judge Rules Wire-Tap Evidence Can Be Used

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Barring further court action, a special prosecutor was free today to use wire-tap evidence against two suspected Utica detectives who go on trial Monday on charges of perjury and conspiracy.

Judge Stephen W. Brennan of U.S. District Court rejected Thursday the petition of Leonard Cuscedo and Pasquale Fragetta to bar the wire taps.

The judge said, however, the detectives could appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Special Prosecutor Robert E. Fischer, who is conducting the probe, opposed the move by the detectives.

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

BULLETIN:

Shell discloses the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell—and the remarkable things they do to give your car top performance

Super Shell gasoline, with nine ingredients, is now in Kingston. Today's formula contains cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate—a new, improved version of TCP. Read how this patented additive increases mileage, releases power, and helps your car give top performance

TODAY, every Shell dealer in this area has remarkable Super Shell in his pumps.

A notice on each Super Shell pump promises that this gasoline will give your car top performance. Shell's scientists want you to know why they can make this promise.

Ingredient #1 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Super Shell now contains an even better version of this famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; up to 17 extra miles per tankful; and can make plugs last up to twice as long.*

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain harmful effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also to keep them from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

Ingredient #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—the mysterious substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

Ingredient #3 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this outstanding high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—the ingredient that took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: The engine in your car may frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7 at cruising speed. Think of this next time you are passing on the highway.

Ingredient #4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

Ingredient #5 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself. Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather. Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

Ingredient #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

Ingredient #7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Ingredient #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

Ingredient #9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

Test Super Shell for yourself

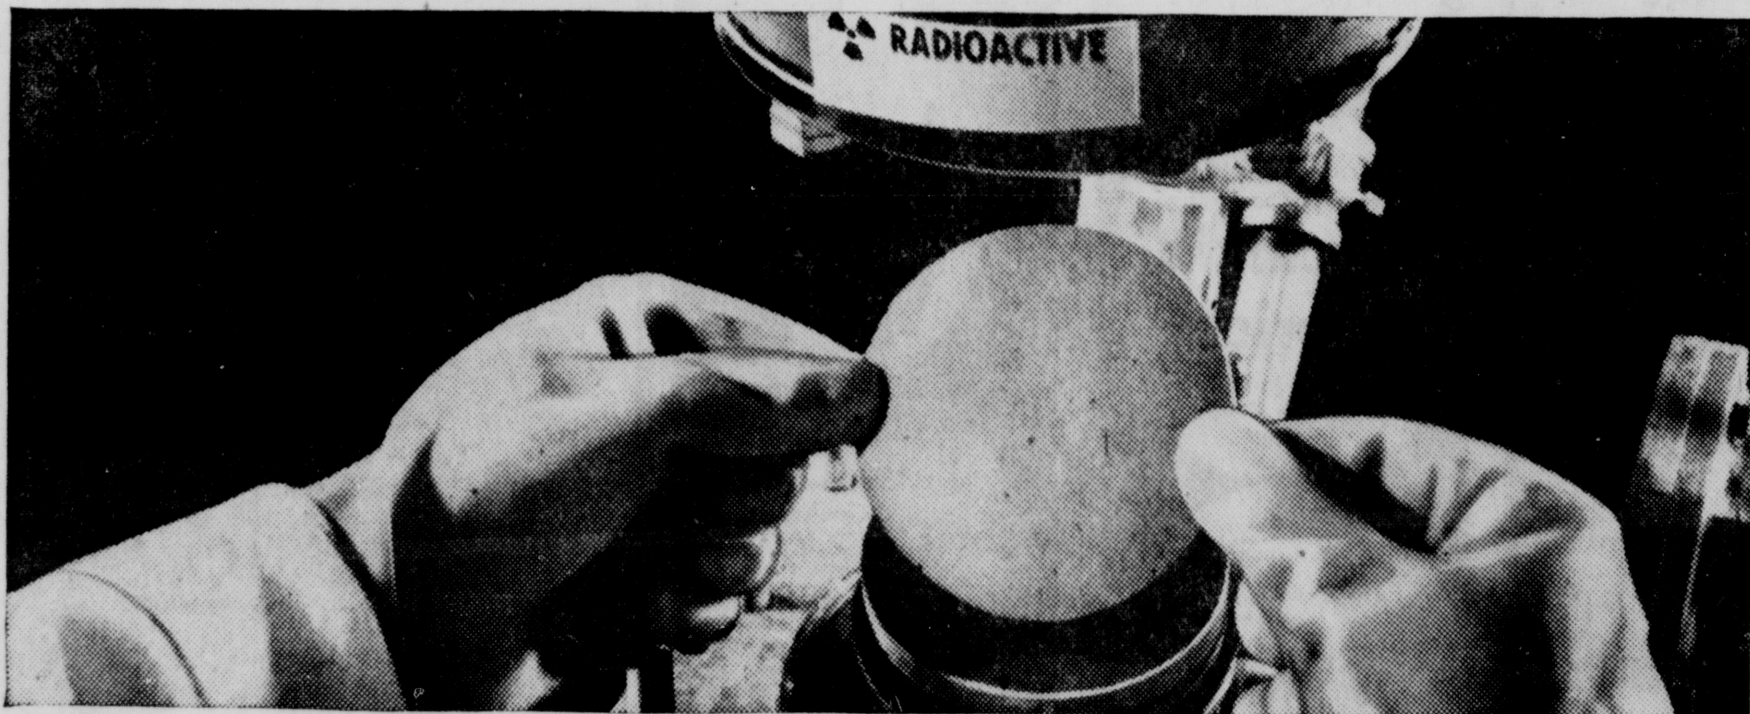

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is top performance.

A BULLETIN FROM SHELL RESEARCH
—where 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2889212

These rubber-gloved hands are placing a piece of sensitized film on top of a radioactive piston head. This produces what is scientifically known as a "radio autograph," from which Shell's scientists can study the nature and location of engine deposits. Research such as this helps Shell develop products that insure top performance from every size and shape of engine. New, improved TCP is a typical example.

Third Coast Guard District Dinner Slated on Sunday

Rear Admiral E. J. Roland, commander, Third Coast Guard District, and Bliss Woodward, national commodore of the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, will be honored guests of the Fourteenth Annual Area Conference of the Third Coast Guard District Auxiliary, Sunday.

The all-day conference at the Park Sheraton Hotel, New York City, will be marked by a "change of watch" ceremony when Charles E. Levitan of Metedeconk, N. J., will be installed as district commodore of the Northern Area. The auxiliary is the civilian arm of the Coast Guard assigned to help promote small boat safety and assist the Coast Guard in certain functions.

District awards for outstanding accomplishments in 1960 will be presented to the top men and units of the district. Registration will commence at 9:15 a. m., Sunday, followed by seminars for all officers. Luncheon is at 1:30 p. m. "Change of watch" ceremonies will begin at 2:30 p. m., followed by talks and general assembly discussion.

3 Men, Woman Held in Link To Stolen Bonds

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Charges of conspiring to forge and dispose of stolen U.S. bonds have been placed against three New Jersey men being held in $50,000 bail each.

Charged Thursday were Horace Rinaldi, 30, East Orange; Louis Savo, 39, of Newark; and Ralph Carbone, 39, of Irvington.

They will appear before U.S. Commissioner Boyce H. Butterfield at a hearing next Thursday.

The men were picked up Tuesday for questioning while sitting in an automobile outside a downtown bank.

A woman who identified herself as Miss Pat Cusano, 22, of Plainfield, N.J., was at the same time being arrested inside the bank. Secret Service agents said she had tried to cash $1,800 worth of bonds which had been stolen recently in New Jersey house burglaries. She was held in $50,000 bail on a forgery charge.

Kennedy Team to Start Working On Farm Problems in Beginning

Editor's Note — President-elect John F. Kennedy has promised vigorous action to increase the farmer's income. How will he go about fulfilling this pledge and others to aid urban centers? Here's a review of the broad shape of Kennedy's probable attack on problems of the farm and city, last in a series of five on policies of the new administration.

By OVID MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has promised to help farmers attain a higher level of prosperity and to assist city dwellers in coping with mushrooming municipal problems.

But the new team will get to work quicker on problems of farmers than those of their city co-cousins.

Orville L. Freeman, former governor of Minnesota, will take over the Department of Agriculture, with its vast system of field ofices and farmer committees, on Jan. 20.

One of his first steps is expected to be assurance to farmers that they can look for better days before the year is out.

May Take Time in Cities

Insofar as the cities are concerned, it may take more time to develop a coordinated assistance program to solve complex problems of slum clearance, mass transportation, urban planning, sewage disposal, juvenile delinquency and education. The Democratic platform promised city folk a seat on the president's Cabinet and Kennedy has endorsed a special report by urban experts calling for creation of a Cabinet-level department for urban affairs. However, no time schedule was indicated. The post would require approval by Congress.

Two Phases Expected

The attack on the farm problem is expected to have two phases. One would greatly broaden measures to increase consumption of agriculture's super-abundant production both at home and abroad.

The other would tighten government controls on farm production—in cases approved by farmers—to help prevent excessive output.

Nevertheless, Kennedy has said that abundant farm production—now represented by huge surplus stocks—would be regarded as a blessing and not as a curse.

To Move Cautiously

The administration is expected to move cautiously in development of its programs. One reason is that much of the Midwestern farm belt voted for Nixon rather than for Kennedy.

Details of the farm program will be developed after a big farm conference of leaders of farmers' own organizations in Washington Jan. 26. This meeting—arranged by Kennedy and Freeman at New York last week—is designed to help the new administration draft policies that would be widely accepted by producers. Some new farm legislation doubtless will be required.

Spelled Out Repeatedly

While the details may be lacking, the Kennedy farm goal has been spelled out repeatedly. It is action by the government to enable the family farm to earn incomes on a par with those of other economic groups. Presently, farm income averages considerably below that of nonfarmers. It also is down about a fourth from what it was eight years ago.

To be decided are methods and devices to raise the income level. Both Kennedy and his party's platform proposed use of rigid production controls, higher price supports, production payments to producers and marketing orders and agreements.

Farm Bureau May Balk

These devices have run into sharp opposition from some farm organizations, including the influential American Farm Bureau Federation. The Federation, like the outgoing Eisenhower administration, wants to reduce government's role in agriculture.

The Kennedy farm program could result in somewhat higher food prices for consumers and possibly higher taxes for taxpayers. However, Kennedy has said that this need not be the case. Freeman himself has said the farm program would exploit neither consumer nor taxpayer.

The Kennedy proposals for urban areas contemplate a four-point 10-year improvement program, as follows: (1) federal aid in elimination of slums; (2) federal aid for metropolitan area planning and community facilities development; (3) federal aid for comprehensive metropolitan transportation programs, including bus and rail mass transit, commuter railroads as well as highways and civil airports; and (4) expansion of park systems to meet recreational needs of the growing urban population.

Can Help in History

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Maine social studies teachers are advising parents to hit the road if they want to help their youngsters with history. The Social Studies Newsletter of the Maine Teachers Assn. suggests that teachers can promote summer learning by "advertising" nearby historic houses, forts and museums to their pupils. Children find their history studies have more meaning, the letter says, when they have been the places where history has been made.

EDWARD C. BYMAN

Returns to Local IBM Division as Program Manager

The appointment of Edward C. Byman, of Littleton, Colo., as IBM 7030 (STRETCH) program administrator, works manager administration, has been announced by Richard J. Whalen, general manager of the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Center, Kingston.

Byman joined IBM in 1950 as a customer engineer in Hartford, Conn., and was transferred to the Poughkeepsie plant in 1952. He was transferred to Kingston in 1955 as a field engineering technical assistant. He was named eastern field division manager the following year and two years later he was named to a similar post in the central division. In 1959 he was transferred to the newly formed western field division, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Byman received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Connecticut and is a member of Tau Beta Pi and Eta Kappa Nu. He is a veteran of three years' service with the U. S. Air Force. Byman, his wife, Barbara, and children, Sharon, 12, Edward, 9, and Robert, 4, will reside in the Kingston area.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—While President Eisenhower is readying his final federal budget which he says will be balanced, his Treasury Department is reporting it needs more cash—now.

The reasons is that tax collections continue to disappoint. And the reason they do is chiefly that business activity continues to lag behind the Treasury's earlier estimates, even its sharply lower guess last October. The tie between the Treasury's health and that of business is a close one.

Deficit Is Likely

And while President-elect John F. Kennedy is preparing his inaugural address which may show what he expects of business activity, his choice for Treasury secretary, Douglas Dillon, is telling senators that slow tax collections may cause a deficit in the fiscal year starting July 1, no matter what the budget offered next Monday may predict.

The Treasury's present plight isn't serious. It is seeking $100 million in new money now — a mere dab in a $81-billion budget and a $90-billion federal debt—although it may seek still more cash in the next few weeks.

And the Treasury expects any cash stringency to disappear after February when collections from income tax returns normally pick up.

The point of the Treasury's current entry into the money market for more cash after it had presumably got itself well fixed for some time ahead is that this puts another dollar and cents emphasis on the extent of the business slowdown—the Treasury still doesn't like to call it a recession.

And the unexpected cash borrowing also points up that the experts at the Treasury and in the Budget Bureau can be just as wrong in predictions as can businessmen. The latter are still smarting from the way their forecasting of greater prosperity a year ago went sour.

Last January the Treasury was expecting to have a $4-billion surplus when it closes its fiscal books this coming June 30. It was depending on bigger business profits it could tax. By summer it was obvious that business profits weren't going to be that good and the Treasury revised its surplus estimate to $1.1-billion. Today many outside the Treasury doubt if there'll be that much of a surplus, if any.

Profits About Same

Actually business profits in 1960 are turning out to total just about what they did in 1959. The trouble

Only Pharmacies Can Sell Bayer Aspirin Is Ruling

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Aspirin can be sold in New York State only in registered pharmacies, the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, has ruled.

The Appellate Court, by a 3-1 vote, Thursday reversed a decision by State Supreme Court Justice Reid S. Moule last March that Loblaw's Inc., a Buffalo supermarket chain could sell Bayer Aspirin in its stores.

In a 13-page majority opinion, the court ruled that Bayer aspirin was not a proprietary, and therefore was required to be sold only in drug stores where licensed pharmacists are employed. Associate Justice Harry Goldman, in a minority opinion, agreed with the Supreme Court ruling that Bayer aspirin is a proprietary medicine. He held, however, that a test to determine if the medicine was harmless should have been made before its sale in supermarkets was allowed.

Killed While Unloading

RUSHVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Burnside, 52, of Penn Yan, a truck driver, was fatally injured Thursday when he was struck by an automobile while unloading a truck on the main street of this village on the Yates-Ontario County line.

Brett-Anderson Wedding Announced

Miss Dorothy Alden Brett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Chase Brett of Belmont, Mass., wed Carl Leonard Anderson of Lincoln, Mass., son of A. Gunnar Anderson of Shirley, Mass., on Wednesday, Dec. 28 at 5 p. m.

Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Arthur Tripp of First Church, Belmont, Mass.

The bride formerly resided at 249 Clinton Avenue, this city. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of silk faille, styled with imported lace bodice. Her veil of silk illusion was fingertip length and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

Mrs. Varum Mead of Lincoln, Mass., the bride's sister, was maid of honor in a blue velvet gown. She carried snapdragons and pink chrysanthemums.

Joan Thatcher of Marion, Mass., the bride's niece, served as bridesmaid. She was gowned in American beauty red velvet and carried snapdragons with pink chrysanthemums. Dorothy Blanchard Mead, another niece, served as flower girl. Her gown was identical to that worn by the bridesmaid.

A wedding reception was given at the home of the bride's parents in Belmont, after which the couple left for Rome, Italy, where they plan to reside for the next few years.

The bride attended Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley. She has recently been on the teaching staff of the Kingston schools. Her husband, an alumnus of Antioch College, is a staff engineer with the Raytheon Corporation.

Wearability Keynotes Designers' Choice In New York Showing

By JOY MILLER
A Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Nobody expected a great new silhouette for spring 1961. And one hasn't materialized.

This means, with the end approaching for the New York couture group showings, you can chalk up the season as one of the more successful for fashion forecasting.

In lieu of lines, designers have shown the 200-plus visiting fashion writers attending the 36th National Press Week of tender regard for wearability and an adventurous awareness of fabrics.

Four fashion houses presented their couture concepts Wednesday and they boil down to: costumes, costumes, costumes, costumes.

Roxane of Samuel Winston made a dramatic departure. Instead of the usual combination of solid jacket and skirt with print blouse and matching print jacket lining, she came up with print jackets—the print forming the outside, that is.

Davidow went right along with the costume trend. His coat and suit coordinates for spring sported blouses in colors dyed to match, with the emphasis on monochromes.

Jackets in the Davidow collection ranged from just below the waist to the hipbone. One longer style was straight, but mostly the short jackets were boxy or cardigan and the longer were fitted. Skirts were straight but easy.

Paul Parnes' collection designed by Beni Claire was the usual highly wearable group of clothes women have come to expect from this house. There was a great attention to detail, and a vast range of fabrics, from lightweight tweeds and wools, to sheer crepes, silk prints and embroidered or-gandy.

Parnes used lace appliques as generously as the succeeding collection of Harvey Berin's. The bias cut was big with Berin, and so were bloused backs on bodices, draped skirts with floating panels and gathers to soften slim skirts.

Wisteria Ball for February 4 Is Planned By Kingston Hospital Auxiliary; Lanin Music

For several weeks now energetic members of the decorating committee of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, with the help of Brownie Troop 19, 9, and 77 of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 73 from St. Joseph's Church, have been preparing decorations for the "Wisteria Ball," theme of the Auxiliary's Annual Ball, to be held Saturday evening, Feb. 4, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mrs. Alan T. Mickel, decorating chairman announced the theme this week. Surrounding the Crystal Room at the hotel will be twining shrubs of the handsome clusters in delicate shades of lavender. Trellises will be on either side of the room and wisteria vines will surround the ballroom mirrors. The bandstand will be encircled with a white picket fence. Sequined stars will be suspended from the ceiling.

In keeping with the festivities, a gaily decorated flower cart will be attended by student nurses, where boutonnieres for the gentlemen and corsages for the ladies will be available. Tables will be decorated with pale lavender cloths and bright tiny pots of geraniums. With the decorative theme, and the music of Lester Lanin, a gala evening is anticipated.

Assisting Mrs. Mickel with the decorations are the Mmes. Harry Gold, Harold Finkle, Philip Toffel, Robert Schnitzer and Harry LeFever Jr., all members of the Auxiliary.

The Auxiliary has expressed its appreciation to Mrs. H. P. Crispell, Mrs. Oscar Coddington and Mrs. William Hulsair, troop leaders of the Fair Street Reformed Church, and to Mrs. Joseph Cross, troop leader at St. Joseph's, who are assisting them.

The public is cordially invited. Additional information may be had by contacting Mrs. James E. Norton, treasurer of the annual ball committee.

Oleg Cassini Designing Mrs. Kennedy's Inaugural Gown; Holds Press Conference
NEW YORK (AP)—Designer Oleg Cassini has classified three top-secret sketches of the new First Lady's fashions for inaugural and spring activities.

The suave, mustached couturier Thursday gave the press descriptions and sketches of a gown and a daytime ensemble of a dress and coat he designed for Mrs. John F. Kennedy. He also included two sketches of proposed trends.

Still under wraps are details of the gown she will wear to the Jan. 19 gala.

"My desire is to protect Mrs. Kennedy in her great moment," Cassini told more than 200 fashion writers from the nation's newspapers jamming his news conference. "It's not every day you become First Lady."

In his sketches Cassini, Paris-born, Italy-reared Russian defender of the American look—feminine, form-fitting—clothes—seemed to have tempered his figure-hugging fashion convictions to Mrs. Kennedy's apparent liking for more relaxed lines.

The gown, for example, he described as a mere covering of pristine white satin—one fluid line from shoulder to floor, unbroken except for the beguiling bow at the waistline. A completely natural look with the dignity and fineness that can only be achieved by simplicity of design.

The dress sketch showed a one-piece soft wool in fawn, a subdued beige. It's gently shaped to the figure with a natural shoulder and simple rounded neckline. Matching silk serge at the waistline and cuffs is the only accent.

The dress is to be worn with a soft-finish two-button wool coat in matching fawn color, with a semi-fitted shape, simple rounded neckline and an appliqued band from neck to hem. It has a detachable collar of Russian sable. The coat is lined with the same fawn silk serge accenting the dress.

Cassini, 47, obviously enjoying himself hugely, staged the news conference during the time he was allotted for displaying his spring collection of fashions for the 36th National Press Week gathering. He showed no clothes at all, giving over the entire period to a discussion of his Kennedy appointment and a question and answer session.

New Paltz Area Methodist Notes

New Organist Selected

At the meeting of the fourth quarterly conference of New Paltz Methodist Church, Monday evening, it was voted to secure the services of Mrs. Kenneth Baumgartner, of North Chestnut Street, as organist of the church.

Mrs. Baumgartner is a former public school music teacher and was formerly organist in the Methodist Church, Katonah. She will begin her duties with the local church February 1st.

Mrs. Baumgartner succeeds Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, who served as organist of the church for 12 years, and who retired as of Jan. 1.

Confirmation Class

The confirmation class for the New Paltz Methodist Parish has begun, under the direction of the pastor. The course of study, over a period of 12 weeks, will lead to the service of reception into the membership of the church Easter Sunday. Registrations are still being accepted. The sessions are held on Wednesday 3:45 p. m., in the New Paltz Church.

Men's Club Meets

The next meeting of the Men's Club of New Paltz Methodist Parish will be held Tuesday evening in the New Paltz Church Social Hall. Supper, prepared by a committee of the men, will be served at 6:45 p. m. The meeting will follow. Reservations may be made by calling the president, Vernon Ronk; vice president, Alfred Schreiber, or the parsonage.

Commissions Meet

Plans will be made for the dedicating and use of the new educational addition to the New Paltz Methodist Church Friday, when the commission on education, membership and evangelism meet, at 8 p. m. R. Francis Hasbrouck and Leslie Johnston are the chairmen of these respective commissions.

Parish Meeting Held

The annual meeting of Fourth Quarterly Conference of New Paltz Methodist Parish was held Monday evening in the New Paltz Church, with the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh District, presiding. Reports from the various church officers, organizations, commissions and committees were received and accepted.

Highlights of the reports for 1960 included the successful New Paltz every-member canvass, construction of the church school addition, the increased benevolence giving of the parish, the work of the Plutarch and New Paltz Sunday schools, the increased church attendance and membership and the year's programs of the Men's Club, WSCS, Lloyd Ladies' Aid and Seekers Class.

Also included in the program of the evening was a covered dish congregational supper, a tour of the Educational Wing and a "Slide-Story of 1960" presented by Mrs. Willett R. Porter.

Milk Output Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final reports showed today milk production in 1960 totaled 125,568 million pounds or 1 per cent more than in 1959.

Last year's output was second to the record high of 125,900 million pounds produced in 1957.

Last year's production averaged 1.91 pounds per capita daily compared with 1.93 in 1959 and with 2.04 for the 1949-58 average. Milk production per cow on Jan. 1 this year averaged 20.38 pounds compared with 20.36 a year earlier and with 16.68 for the 10-year Jan. 1 average.

VISITORS' CHILDREN

Question: My husband and I recently redecorated our entire house and are so pleased with it. However, we are beginning to wonder whether it was worth it as little visitors come with filthy hands and are allowed to climb all over, pushing furniture back into the newly painted walls. Everytime the little ones leave I have a clean job to do, retouching the paint and putting glue on my knick knacks. My problem is this: We are expecting a baby shortly and are planning on changing one of our rooms into a nursery. We plan to put toys and things in there to keep little ones busy. From this room the children will be able to see and hear their parents, but we are planning on putting in a Dutch door and securing it when necessary. Would it seem rude to ask the parents to keep their children in this room, and how should this be asked without hurting their feelings. This business of telling a child every five minutes to leave something alone makes me very nervous.

Answer: You might ask the parents if they think their children would be happier in the nursery playing with the toys, than in the room with you where there is nothing to amuse them. However, only at the parents' suggestion can you think of locking their children in the nursery even with only the lower half of a Dutch door. If it must be left open, constant vigilance is the only sure protection you can give your newly decorated house.

A Tray of Refreshments

Question: What is the proper thing for a man to do when a tray of refreshments is passed to him first and a lady is sitting next to him? Should he help himself first or wait for her?

Answer: If the tray is held so both can help themselves, he of course waits for her. But if it is presented directly to him (on its way to her) he should help himself so as not to interfere with the passage of the tray.

Give Hubby Insight to 'Why' of What You Buy

In today's mail is a letter from a reader who feels guilty because she has been less than frank with her husband in money matters.

For years, she says, she has had secret charge accounts which have nearly driven her crazy. She has to stretch her household allowance to pay a little on this account and a little on that one.

This has come about, she says, because she dreaded the long discussions that always followed when she asked her husband for money for this or that special purchase.

Her feelings of guilt are understandable—but she certainly shouldn't feel alone in her deception. There may not be a lot of women who have charge accounts their husbands don't know exist.

But an awful lot of wives do mighty fancy juggling of household money, rather than tell their husbands exactly what they spent for a hat, a new sofa, or a party dress.

It isn't that they are married to skinkies, either. Most of them aren't. Then why do they feel they have to do all that financial finagling?

One reason is probably that they think a man wouldn't understand the necessity for some of the things they buy. What looks "perfectly all right" to a man often looks out-of-date or absolutely hopeless to a woman. Another woman would understand perfectly—but would a man?

The other reason is that the clothes, furniture and knickknacks a woman's heart yearns for are often so expensive that her common sense tells her they are more than she can afford. She expects her husband to be bowled over by the price, because she herself thinks it is unreasonable. But still she wants what she wants and so she begins to figure how she might manage to "finance" it, without coming right out and asking for the money.

Perhaps, the best way for wives to avoid the temptation to be less than frank about money matters is to take their husbands with them when they shop. Men who habitually shop with their wives don't have to be hoodwinked about price tags.

For answers to some of the questions in husband-wife relationships, order your copy of Ruth Millett's new booklet, "Happier Wives: (hints for husbands)." Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

NEW YORK (AP)—Entertainment in widely varied form will be flooding the television channels during the next seven days. Tackling the schedules chronologically, tonight there is another in the NBC American Heritage series (9-10 Eastern Standard Time), this called "The Invincible Teddy," and dealing with the debut of Theodore Roosevelt into politics. George Peppard plays young TR.

On Sunday, there is the annual professional football game on NBC from Los Angeles (3:45 p.m. to conclusion). This conflicts with the CBS "A Question of Chairs, The Challenge of American Education," about the evolution of our school system.

CBS's big, expensive special, "The Gershwin Years," with Maurice Chevalier, Frank Sinatra and Ethel Merman comes up Sunday night, 8-9:30, probably the highlight of the week.

Tuesday evening there's NBC's satirical revue, "Everybody's Doing It," with Art Carney and Alice Ghostley (10-11). And on Wednesday evening there is CBS' Show of the Month, an adaptation of "The Prisoner of Zenda," prototype of all Ruritania tales, with Christopher Plummer in the leading, dual role (8:30-10).

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Untouchables" two-part drama, bullet-pocked and corpse-strewn, came to the anticipated happy ending Thursday night.

Elliot Ness had foiled the Chicago and West Coast gangsters—they were either dead or captured—and the prison train break averted. A vicious snarling prisoner identified as Al Capone was safely transferred from Atlanta Penitentiary to Alcatraz. Ness and his hardy aides were safe, sound and ready for new adventures.

MJM 8th Grade Above National Average in Tests

Eighth graders at Myron J. Michael School scored above the national average on the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills according to a research survey made by Mrs. Viola W. Opdahl, counselor at the school. On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Opdahl reported to the Elementary Cabinet that the Kingston eighth graders who took the test in March 1960 exceeded the national average by as much as 18 per cent in terms of achievement.

The survey also revealed that on a national basis 25 per cent of Eighth Grade students tested received the top scores. In Kingston 39 per cent of the students tested received the top scores. Therefore, the Kingston eighth graders are considerably above national expectation.

These results, indicative of outstanding instructional standards in Kingston, are valuable for meeting the present day highly competitive college entrance and occupational requirements, Mrs. Opdahl said. Copies of the complete report have been forwarded to Stephen Hyatt, Myron J. Michael School principal; James E. Tobin, director of pupil personnel and Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools.

Short Is Elected By Rondout Lodge

Robert F. Short was elected Commander of Rondout Commandery No. 52, Knights Templar, at its annual meeting Wednesday night in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

Other officers elected were: Ralph H. Hayner, generalissimo; Sidney E. Friar, captain general; Norman Swibold, senior warden; Donald E. White Sr., junior warden; George E. Radcliffe, prelate; Arthur J. Jansen, treasurer; Fred L. VanDeusen, recorder; W. W. Fredenburgh, recorder emeritus; Alfred G. Messenger, standard bearer; Walter Lawrence, sword bearer; Helmut Musal, warden; Edgar B. Schepmoes, sentinel and Walter J. Kidd, organist. Paul E. Jones was elected trustee for three years to succeed himself.

Arthur J. Jansen had charge of the election and the tellers were Donald M. Leith and Lindsey Chalmers.

The annual reports were read and showed that the Commandery had enjoyed a good year in 1960.

The newly elected officers will be installed at a public installation ceremony Saturday night, Jan. 21, and preceding the installation a dinner will be served in the dining room. Tickets for the dinner may be obtained at the Temple and reservations should be made as promptly as possible.

Obviously, after the controversy which blew up after last week's installment of "The Big Train" episode, it was an ironic oversight that the only culprit that got away undetected was a corrupt prison guard who had a part in the escape plot.

After the first installment, James B. Bennett, head of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, fired a blast at ABC for the way the show depicted federal prison personnel and asked that the second installment be withheld until he had consulted the Federal Communications Commission and the attorney general.

ABC declined, but at the end of Thursday night's program an announcer proclaimed that nothing in the program was intended to imply "any reflection on the integrity of the officers of the Federal Bureau of Prisons."

"The Untouchables," a well-made, exciting and enormously popular series, is in a curious bind of its own making. The two-part episode about the attempted prison train hold-up was admittedly a sheer fiction.

There was a real prohibition agent named Elliot Ness, but Thursday night's story was set in postprohibition times and foiling prison train breaks would not have been a Ness assignment anyway. But the series is now two years old and the producers have long since run out of real Ness cases.

But one of the gimmicks of the series is still to use real names of real gangsters, now deceased. It gives an air of realism to the program.

Recommended tonight: Family Classics, CBS, 7:30-8:30 EST—second half of "Vanity Fair"; American Heritage, NBC, 9-10—"The Invincible Teddy," with George Peppard playing Theodore Roosevelt at the time of his entrance into politics.

LWV Meeting Dates Are Announced Here

Mrs. Charles Forst, 39 Mountview Avenue, has been appointed to the board of the League of Women Voters of Kingston as chairman of the education study item.

The appointment was announced at a board meeting Monday, Jan. 9, in the home of Mrs. Jacob Moss, Hurley. Mrs. Forst will head the study of the financing of the state educational system; she succeeds Mrs. Abraham Greenbaum of Lake Katrine, who has resigned.

The education resource committee will meet at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 24, in the home of Mrs. Philip Rosdol, 20 Spring Lake Drive. All interested are invited to attend.

The League's general meeting slated for Jan. 30 will not take place. A unit discussion group on foreign policy is planned for 8:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 23, in the home of Mrs. John Johnson, 10 Lipton Street. The topic will be "New Administration, New Foreign Policy: An Open Letter to President-Elect Kennedy."

A special joint meeting with the Woodstock LWV is planned for Feb. 6, with Mrs. Jerome Schack, state chairman of the League's judicial study item, as guest speaker. The meeting is planned for 8:30 p.m. in the Central Hudson Auditorium, 607 Broadway.

The court reform committee met Thursday, Jan. 12, in the home of Mrs. David Gerbarg, Hurley. Mrs. John Hoffer is chairman.

Mrs. William Heyden, vice president in charge of unit organization, announced that the annual meeting of the local League is planned for March 20, with a program planned by Mrs. Jeremiah Sachs, chairman of State Continuing Responsibilities.

The local board recommended that the state League adopt for next year's program "a study of the possibilities of revising the residence requirements for voters in New York State." The group suggested that if the pending Erwin-Lounsbury Resolution on court reorganization is passed by the state legislature in this session, the League keep the item as a state Continuing Responsibility.

Mrs. Roland Neice, publications chairman, called members attention to new publications. They include "Hard Choices," a booklet concerning U.S. economic development in this country and abroad; "The Legislative Forecast," including information helpful during the present session of the state legislature; and "The Legislative Review," published after the session closes. A directory of state officials for 1961-1962 is also available.

Any League publication may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Neice. Mrs. Ellsworth Johnson is president of the LWV of Kingston. The board holds its next meeting at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 13, in the home of Mrs. Morton Zucker, 69 Wilson Avenue.

Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society Will Elect Directors Monday, January 23 Here

A meeting of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society has been called for Monday, Jan. 23 at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, for the purpose of electing directors for 1961-62.

The Society is a membership corporation incorporated in the State of New York and therefore all subscribers are invited to attend. A business meeting will also be held. Although the seating capacity of the meeting room is limited, those members keenly interested in the Society are invited to attend.

The success of the Philharmonic's first concert featuring Claudio Arrau, pianist, indicates an equally responsive reception for the remaining concerts.

It is hoped that those who are able to attend the meeting on January 23 can offer suggestions under which the Society can present even greater contributions to the musical culture of the Kingston area.

WORD OF LIFE QUARTET—Participating in the area-wide youth rally at the Shokan Reformed Church Sunday 2:30 p.m. will be the Word of Life Quartet, John Okesson, baritone; Wayne Augustine, bass; Byron Fox, second tenor and Ron Van Dam, first tenor. Organist will be Gerard Pisani and guest speaker will be Jack Wyrzten of the Word of Life ministry. Reservations will be made for seating groups attending by notifying the host pastor, the Rev. Osterhoudt Phillips.

JCC. Brownies Are Invested at Center

Brownie Troop 16, sponsored by the Jewish Community Center, invested 10 girls this week. They are Joan Sobsey, Ilene Kent, Margo Gold, Janie Davis, Sara Eaton, Andrea Propp, Janet Kaufman, Lydia Kaufman, Cathy Bard and Esta Rae Holtz. The leader of the troop is Mrs. Alan Eisenstein.

The ceremony of investiture was conducted by Brownies Janie Miller, Claudia Randal, Ilene Rafalowsky, Ellen Weiner, Cathy Cohen, Ruth Sherry and Sandra Horowitz. These Brownies also received stars for each additional year they have been in the Brownie troop.

Troop 16 is affiliated with the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.

DAR Evening Group Announces Upcoming Events, Projects

The evening group of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was again fortunate in have Mrs. Jack H. Clair as guest speaker on Monday, Jan. 9. Mrs. Clair showed color slides of her recent trip through Egypt.

As chairman, Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth presided at the business meeting.

The annual event, George Washington's Birthday, will be observed on Feb. 22 at a joint meeting at the Chapter House. Dr. Earl Soper, superintendent of schools, will be guest speaker. At this time also, the DAR Good Citizen Award will be presented, and School No. 2 will be the recipient of a Library Book Shelf.

As National Defense Chairman, Mrs. Adam H. Porter read an article on the threat of communism in our country, and the ever-present need for an alert and informed citizenry.

Of particular interest was a letter of thanks for Christmas gifts which Mrs. Lila Randall, chairman of DAR Schools, had received from John Henry Hopkins, who attends the Tammasee School and is sponsored by the group.

Miss Hazel Bloom made a request for books, money, children's clothing, and other useful articles which will be sent to American Indians.

Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth and Mrs. Warren Russell were hostesses for the supper which preceded the meeting.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The Kingston Sports Club's brave pitch to establish soccer as a spectator's sport in Kingston has achieved only modest success. But the future might be more encouraging to Kurt Schoch and his brilliant troupe.

Troy is favored to win the Central New York League title, but capital district experts almost unanimously rate Kingston the best soccer team in this part of the state. They trail the Trojans by a few points and the race is far from over.

A traditional European sport, along with rugby, the soccer pastime has failed to arouse the enthusiasm of American spectators. Compared to American football, it seems tame, but really isn't that patty watty. It's a hard, rugged sport requiring more skill than the average spectators appreciate.

American football has yet to overwhelm European crowds, proving that heritage and habit are strong instincts. Looking over the local situation, we can find only one fault and a minor one at that. The schedule seems haphazard and the season seems to be disjointed. A continuous schedule of games might arouse more spectator interest. There's something unreal about a sport which carries league standings over from fall to spring.

Quote of the Week:

Bill McCormick, NEA Service: The most useless thing ever invented in sports is the third heavyweight title bout between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson, currently scheduled—subject to the whims of Cus D'Amato and the vagaries of bumbling promoters—for Miami on March 18. The only thing the silly series proves is that, whether or not you like his ways, Cus D'Amato is one of the most effective managers the boxing business has ever known—from the standpoint of his fighter, which is the only fair way to evaluate the pilot of a pug. D'Amato has protected Patterson with the ferocity of a mama bear and coddled him like Little Lord Fauntleroy, while steering him to the title twice with an absolute minimum of personal jeopardy. And that's the rub—Patterson hasn't fought anybody. The boys may wind up with a longer run than Abie's Irish Rose. And why not? Their farce is even funnier.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Dick Howard of Kingston is one of 16 bowlers with averages of 200 or better at the halfway mark of the Mid-Hudson Major bowling league in Newburgh, the only "major" circuit in the area. Dick is hitting 200.22. Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie heads the pack with 212.7, followed by Tasta Semiz, 209.39; Gordon Coletti, 208.40; Jake Chamber, 208; Pat Tarsio, 207.17; Sam Taylor, 206.40; and Lou Campi 206.21. . . . Television sportscaster Don Dunphy, greatest of the boxing announcers, will announce the strike-by-strike final hour of the 20th All Star bowling tournament January 21 over the ABC-TV network from San Bernardino, Calif. And let's hope Chris Gallop survives to that hectic final hour. . . . Johnny Ferraro has a merchandise contest going at his tenpin palace that is worth a looksee. . . . If you're one of those people entrusted with the responsibility of purchasing running score sheets for your bowling, look over your merchandise before committing yourself. The 1960-61 season has produced some of the most ridiculous bowling sheets in history. In a couple of instances there is no provision made to indicate the name of the league. Another omitted the important line for the sponsor's name and that is the unpardonable sin. One of the more humorous aspects was a league that ordered a plate with 11 frames on it, yes we said 11. But you can't fool the automatic, so human folly was corrected by electronic ingenuity. But think of what might have happened in the old days of manual pinsetters. Just for one night, of course.

LOST DRIVER: Tiger Tom Pistone, a tiny race driver from Chicago, had a block of wood on his accelerator pedal so he could reach it during the Charlotte Motor Speedway's National 400. During the race the block slipped off. As Pistone came out of a turn, he bent over, out of view, to put it back. At that moment his chief mechanic looked up, went into hysterics. "My driver!" he shouted. "Where's my driver?" Dick Lane of Onteora Speedway swears the story is the gospel truth.

Canadiens Repulse Maple Leafs' Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens, bidding for their fourth straight National Hockey League title, have turned back, at least temporarily, the Toronto Maple Leafs' bid for a share of first place.

In a position where a defeat would have forced them to share the top spot with Toronto, the Canadiens applied all of their power for four goals in the second period Thursday night and went on to down the Maple Leafs 6-2. The victory lengthened their lead to four points.

The Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers, with only an outside chance of reaching the Stanley Cup playoffs, battled to a 4-4 tie in the only other game.

Buffalo State Rout Fredonia State, 90-69

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo State's starting team hit the double figures last night in an easy 90-69 basketball victory over Fredonia State.

Host Buffalo State took an early lead and was out front 42-29 at intermission. Pete Kent of Fredonia, however, was high man for the night. He scored 20 points. It was Buffalo State's fifth win in nine starts.

In the only other Upstate game, Siena edged host Utica, 59-57.

Three Loop Races Are Still Close Near Midway Mark

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Kingston High, Saugerties and Onteora will be hosts tonight with important games scheduled in the three scholastic cage leagues.

The Maroons of Coach Jack Gilligan will play arch rival Newburgh Free Academy in a DUSO engagement at the Kate Walton Field House.

At the Saugerties gym, the Sawyers are slated to collide with Arlington in a DCSL headliner and at Boiceville, Onteora and New Paltz will oppose each other in a pivotal UCAL match.

With the season approaching the halfway mark, races in all three circuits are far from being decided. Tonight's results will help to unscramble the situation.

A capsule comment of the games and the standings of the clubs.

DUSO	W	L
Kingston	4	0
Newburgh	3	1
Poughkeepsie	2	1
Middletown	2	2
Monticello	1	2
Liberty	1	3
Port Jervis	0	4

NEWBURGH AT KINGSTON:

This is a big game no matter what the records of the clubs involved might be. However, the Goldbacks are breathing hard behind the KHS players and a win in this class will throw the race wide open. Of comparative records, which mean little, the tilt is a tossup with the slim edge to the home team.

POUGHKEEPSIE AT MIDDLETOWN:

The most improved team in the circuit against a veteran outfit that has stumbled only against Kingston. Middletown is big and the team got off to a slow start. However, recent victories over Port Jervis and Liberty show that the Middies have improved. Sam J. Kalloch, the Pioneers are still to be feared, despite the fact Jim Gordon and Steve Albrecht have only three league games remaining. The visitors should win a close one.

DCSL

Saugerties	3	1
Roosevelt	3	1
Arlington	2	1
Wappingers	2	2
Beacon	1	3
CFMA	0	3

ARLINGTON AT SAUGERTIES:

A look at the standings will show why this is a big game. The Sawyers have righted themselves after a slow start and Coach Bud Smith has a solid starting five. The bench is still the big question mark. Arlington is always a good shooting club and though Mickey Savino is no longer around, Art Crum, Rene Luik and Larry Weisberg are. They started on the 1959-60 title winning team. The home side could capture this with a good defensive effort and board control.

ROOSEVELT AT BEACON:

The Presidents are favored here but the home side is capable of pulling an upset. Beacon has the fastest five in the circuit but lacks a good big player. If Robby Williams can regain his touch, Roosevelt will be hard to beat.

CFMA AT WAPPINGERS:

A picnic for Dave Beverly's quintet. The Cadets are very weak and Wappingers has looked very good on occasions. The home team should win this one with plenty to spare.

UCAL

Team	Won	Lost
Onteora	2	1
New Paltz	2	1
Marlboro	2	1
Wallkill	2	1
Rondout Valley	1	2
Highland	0	3

HIGHLAND AT WALLKILL:

Poor Highland. The team can't get itself untracked and seems doomed for another losing effort tonight. Wallkill has Ken Rumsey, a good player. The Highlanders have nobody to match him.

ROUNDOUT AT MARLBORO:

A must game for Chick Meehan's club. If the Ganders bow this time, they will be relegated to the also ran class. Marlboro is hoping to rebound after that one point loss at Wallkill.

NEW PALTZ AT ONTEORA:

The best game of the evening in the circuit. New Paltz is the dark horse at present and Onteora is rated a serious challenger for the pennant. The Indians are the choice here, but it could be a close one. If Dick Bartsch is still out, the Huguenots could win.

Doane Cager Leads Small College Aces

NEW YORK (AP) — Gene Velloff of Doane held only one-tenth of a point lead today over Lawrence Tech's John Bradley in the individual basketball scoring race among the small colleges.

Velloff has a 33.1 average compared to 33.0 by Bradley, according to statistics released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. The Doane star has scored 265 points in eight games while Bradley, playing in four more games, has tallied 396.

There is a sharp battle for third place, too. Lebron Bell of Bryan has a slim 2 lead over Lindberg Moody of South Carolina State. 32.2 to 32.0.

NFA Meets Kingston At Field House Tonight

Boasting a 4-1 record, the Newburgh Free Academy Goldbacks move into the Kate Walton Field House tonight for a vital meeting with Kingston High.

Newburgh, coached by Joe Gaspard, former Amenia and Chester High School mentor, has scored decisions over Arlington, 83-64; Middletown, 69-49; Port Jervis, 69-45 and Monticello, 60-50. The loss was, 60-59, to Poughkeepsie.

The locals have beaten Liberty (2), Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill, Mont Pleasant, Our Lady of Lourdes and Liberty and were walloped by Mont Pleasant.

The probable starting lineups:

Newburgh	No.	Pos.	No.	Kingston
Al Angeline	14	F	14	Joe Uhl
Jim McMillan	3	F	22	Vince Smedes
John Sileno	15	C	10	John Duffner
Gus Lander	12	G	24	Mike Ferraro
Richard Scott	4	G	40	Albert Brown

NFA RESERVES: Jack Wolpe (22), Doug Groves (11), Bob Ruckdeschel (24), Sal Graecchiolo (5), Carl Alexrod (25), Richard Gaines (31).

KHS RESERVES: George Tomson (30), Ted Bream (32), John Falvey (34), Bill Bodenweber (20), Mike Celuch (12), Don Komosa (44).

OFFICIALS: Bob Magill and Bucky Gros.

Randy Kelder Slams 663

One of Kingston's all-time bowling greats before he went on a limited tenpin diet, Randy Kelder last night climaxed a steadily mounting comeback drive with a 663 blast in the Bowlerama Major. His games were 217, 234 and 212.

Runnerup was Ferrell (Fink) McElrath, who spliced games of 236, 233 and 175 for 644 in the Mannie's Barber Shop.

Warriors Stay Hot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors are maintaining a hot pace in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association, but have not been able to cut the Boston Celtics' two-game lead.

The Warriors won their sixth game in their last eight starts with a 111-102 victory over the St. Louis Hawks Thursday night. But in the first game of the doubleheader at Philadelphia, the Celtics made it seven-out-of-eight with a 124-118 overtime conquest of the Syracuse Nats.

In the only other game, the Detroit Pistons returned to their old home at Fort Wayne, Ind., and downed the Cincinnati Royals 124-112.

With Bob Pettit getting only 15 points, the Warriors led all the way against the Hawks and at times had leads of 19 points. Wilt Chamberlain paced the winners with 37 points.

Bob Cousy's 33 points and 23 by Tom Heinsohn powered the Celtics to their victory over the Nats.

Detroit, with 18 straight victories over Cincinnati at Detroit, grabbed the lead at the start of the fourth period and pulled away. Bailey Howell scored 33 points for the Pistons, topping Oscar Robertson's 31 for Cincinnati.

Jackson led one St. Mary's victory with 13 points. Davide and Bock hit 12 apiece. Curley potted 17 for the losers.

In the other game, Williams of St. Mary's led with 18 points.

Says Reds May Launch Rocket On JFK's Day

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—A U.S. space scientist says the Russians may launch a super-space rocket when John F. Kennedy is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Dr. Erich W. Neubert, German-born associate research and development director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, made the prediction on arrival for a speech.

Neubert said a Soviet fleet has arrived in the Pacific. He pointed out that in the past this has indicated a rocket test was planned.

State Statute Not Affected

Law on Knife Carrying Is Unconstitutional: Ruling

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A New York City law barring persons under 21 from carrying knives or any sharp objects that could be used for "cutting and puncturing" is unconstitutional, the state's highest court holds.

The law, designed to reduce juvenile crime, was declared void Thursday by the Court of Appeals.

In a 5-2 decision, the majority said "juvenile delinquents can be highly dangerous, especially in large cities. (But) they cannot be legislated out of existence."

The state has a law against switchblade knives but the decision referred only to the New York City statute.

Other Decisions

The court, in other decisions:

NBC Scraps Its Comedy Skit on Kennedy, Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—A scheduled comedy skit on president-elect John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, has been scrapped by the National Broadcasting Co.

An eight-minute sketch had been written for comedian Art Carney's NBC-TV show next Tuesday, three days before Kennedy's inauguration as the nation's 35th president.

Carney was to have played the role of Kennedy and actress Lee Remick the part of Mrs. Kennedy. The setting was to have been the White House after Kennedy's inauguration.

An NBC spokesman said Thursday "We thought it would have been improper to have performers actually portraying the president and his wife. Our decision was based on a matter of good taste."

Jet Crash Kills One

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—One crewman is dead but three others have survived the crash of their six-engine Air Force jet bomber near famed Mt. Palomar Observatory.

The B47 crashed and burned Thursday, setting off a five-acre brush fire, shortly after taking off from March Air Force Base.

All four crewmen parachuted. But Lt. Col. Irwin L. Williams, 40, was dead when he was found.

The survivors are Capt. Orville W. Gray, Lt. Kenneth W. Baisden, and Capt. Salvador G. Orasco.

He Never Lost Sight of Goals, Ike on Herter

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has praised his outgoing secretary of state, Christian A. Herter, as never losing sight of "our main goals."

In a letter accepting Herter's resignation, effective Jan. 20, Eisenhower Thursday said:

"Notwithstanding the periods of crisis and peril the years have brought—and will continue to bring—we have demonstrated our will for peace, while safeguarding and furthering justice and freedom."

Strauss Improves

BONN, Germany (AP)—Defense Minister Joseph Strauss was reported sufficiently recovered from the gripe today to make a scheduled trip to the United States. Strauss, 45, is to fly to New York Saturday.
